Thin, Pale, Ill, Three Americans Are Released By Red Abductors

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG (AP)—Looking thin, pale and ill after 18 months in Communist Chinese captivity, two American correspondents and a ship captain from Brooklyn crossed into British Hong Kong today.

One of the trio, National Broadcasting Co. correspondent Richard Applegate, 37, of Medford, Ore., told a news conference that after months of solitary confinement in a Canton jail and long hours of questioning, he had admitted the Americans waged germ warfare in Korea.

"I thought they either would leave me in that prison until I rotted or that they would kill me," he said.

Released At Border

The Reds released Applegate, International News Service correspondent Donald Dixon, 25, of New York, and merchant mariner Benjamin Krasner at the Lowu border bridge. A U.S. consulate car brought them the 40 miles to the Peninsula Hotel at Kowloon, on the mainland across from Hong Kong.

Applegate gave this account of his grilling about the alleged germ warfare in Korea, which he said began after the Reds found out he had been a war correspondent in Korea:

The first time he was questioned, he got angry and shouted back, "That's a lie. There were no germs dropped in Korea."

The Communist interrogator pounded the desk and yelled, "You lie! You lie! If you don't tell the truth, we'll kill you. Go back to your cell and think a while."

"Begins To Confess"

After long hours, Applegate continued, he began to confess to the germ warfare but the Reds quickly challenged: "You lie. Your confession is different from the American fliers."

"I could not confess what they wanted because I didn't know what they wanted, until they let a translation of Russian stories get into the cell. I knew then what they wanted to hear and I gave it to them. After that I started confessing to being in Chinese waters and everything else they asked.

"I found out the Reds wanted me to lie so I lied plenty. I lied 17 pages of lies. They told me that even the wind from Hong Kong contained germs. I agreed."

Laugh Hysterically

All three men smiled and then laughed almost hysterically as they stepped from the consulate car to be greeted by almost 70 reporters

EX-CHAPLAIN TO BE RED CROSS SPEAKER OCT. 26

The annual membership dinner of the Adams County Red Cross will be held at the YWCA on Tuesday, October 26, Mrs. Albert Bachman reported Tuesday evening at a meeting of the board of directors of the Red Cross held at its office on Baltimore St.

The dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the YWCA with the Annie Danner Club members serving, she added. Speaker for the dinner, as announced by Col. Edwin Johnson, will be the Rev. Arthur Stambach, now a pastor at Lemoyne, who served as an Army chaplain in Korea and Japan with the 24th Infantry. Col. Johnson became acquainted with the former chaplain while both were in Japan.

The report of the nominating committee is scheduled for presentation at the October 26 session when new board members will be elected for three-year terms. The board consists of 36 members from throughout the county. Membership is spread so that all sections are represented. Under the rules of the organization board mmebers can serve only two terms and then must be off the board at least year before they can be considered for another term.

Lauds Board Members

President George L. Haenn, in commenting on the mandatory "retirement" of board members after serving two terms, observed: "We are going to lose a number of the most faithful members of the Red Cross from the board this year. It is unfortunate that it is so, but those are the regulations and they are required by the National Red Cross. We wish to express to the board members who will be retired this year our own deepest appreciation and the appreciation of the whole county for their services. It will be difficult to replace them."

A total of 304 home service cases were before the Red Cross during the summer months, Mrs. Bachman reported. Of 121 cases in June 24 were servicemen and 11 veterans.

In July, 78 cases were handled, 26

CUMBERLAND'S APPEALS BEING HEARD TODAY

Sixteen appeals from assessments on Cumberland Twp. properties were heard this morning by the county commissioners, with eight of the valuations continued by the county governing group at the same figure at which they had been set.

In six cases adjustments were made because of special circumstances and two decisions remain yet to be reached.

Fourteen more are scheduled for this afternoon and four Cumberland assessment appeals are listed for Thursday morning. Conewago Twp. appeals will be heard Thursday following completion of the Cumberland cases.

Some Changes Made

C. David Pitzer, Gettysburg R. 2, was found to have had a double assessment when he appeared this morning. He had been sent a notice covering the land, and had also been sent a notice covering both land and buildings. The clerical error was rectified by continuing the $2,500 assessment on the entire property and cancelling the $281 assessment on the land alone.

A $75 drop in the assessment, from $375 to $300, was made for the property of John E. Cassatt, Gettysburg R. 3. Evaluation of the property of Charles Bollinger, Gettysburg R. 3, was reduced from $3,000 to $2,500.

For the properties of Paul Lobaugh and John F. Wright, the assessment was reduced, on each, from $1,750 to $1,500 and the assessed valuation on the property of Robert D. Lee was dropped from $1,250 to $1,150.

In each case the appellants were able to produce special reasons why their properties should have a lower assessment.

The Soroptimist Club at its first fall meeting held at the YWCA on Tuesday night adopted the recommendation of Mrs. Donald E. Myers, chairman, Civic and Welfare Committee, to sponsor National Retarded Children's Week in this county, November 14-23.

The Executive Board with eight members present met before the business meeting with Miss Martha Stallsmith presiding. Twenty-three were in attendance at the business meeting.

Reports for the last year were given by the following: Treasurer, Miss Anna Weaver; Finance Committee, Mrs. George Boehner; Hospitality Committee, Mrs. George F. Eberhart; Program Committee, Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler; Civic and Welfare Committee, Mrs. George Ditchburn; Sister Club Committee, Mrs.

GOP LEAD IN COUNTY IS CUT TO ABOUT 2,800

With 371 more Democrats registering during the period of special registration than Republicans, the Republican majority in the county is believed reduced to about 2,800, county election officials said today as they began the annual job of weeding out those who have not voted for two years, adding new registrants and preparing the official list of registered voters for the forthcoming November election.

During the period ending Saturday, 670 Democrats, 299 Republicans and 12 nonpartisan voters were registered.

The Republican party at the end of the last registration had 3,185 more registrants in the county than the Democrats. Subtraction of the 371 difference between the two parties in the current special registration reduces the Republican lead to 2,814.

Figures Not Final

Election officials were not certain those figures are absolutely accurate pending the completion of the check of all the files which would winnow out any duplications of registration, and also will remove those who have not voted and thus may change the figures slightly.

On Saturday, last day to register, 75 signed before the office closed at noon. Of that number 34 were Republicans, 40 Democrats and one non-partisan.

On the special night registration Friday 21 Republicans, 52 Democrats and three nonpartisan voters appeared to enroll.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

Gettysburg again made the headlines Tuesday, this time a columnist's headlines, when John M. Cummings, well known Philadelphia Inquirer writer, features this historic community in his daily editorial page column. It follows in full:

Some years ago, when Bill Vare was a candidate for United States senator, his attention was called to a political development in Northumberland County which some of his friends thought would be anything but helpful to his campaign. One day a reporter asked Mr. Vare if he cared to comment on the Northumberland development.

"Northumberland?" he asked. "Where's that?"

This is a repeat story, for it was told here before to emphasize the ignorance of so many Philadelphians in the matter of Pennsylvania geography. Our people, because of their frequent excursions to Atlantic City and other coast resorts, are more familiar with New Jersey than they are with their own state.

Because of the nature of their interests, you'd think Philadelphia politicans would make it a point to familiarize themselves with the layout of the Common-

HAEHNLEN, HERR ARE PROPOSED FOR REC. POSTS

The Recreation Association Board, holding its monthly meeting Tuesday evening at the engine house, decided to recommend to the School Board that Fred Haehnlen and Rogers Herr be appointed to supervise the winter recreation program. Haehnlen is a faculty member at Gettysburg High School and Herr, a former junior high teacher, is employed at the Gettysburg National Bank.

Haehnlen will take charge of the Saturday night dances for teen-agers held every week at the high school, if his appointment is approved, and Herr will supervise the remainder of the program, the most important parts of which are the community basketball and the adult education program. Evening courses for adults are being planned in sewing, typing, shorthand, and industrial arts.

Chairman Guile W. Lefever announced the completion of improvements on the Recreation Association's Little League and Big-Little League baseball diamonds within the past two weeks, under the supervision of Donald Peters and Mahlon P. Hartzell. One hundred twenty-five truckloads of topsoil were spread onto the fields, leveled with a grader, limed, fertilized, and grass sown for next year. It was decided to set posts and string either wire or chain around both diamonds, to keep cars, horsemen and golfers from digging up the turf.

Plan Summer Calendar

Improvements are also progressing on the Association's outdoor basketball court. The court has already been graded, and stone will soon be placed. A black asphalt top will be laid next spring, Lefever said. He announced that all baseball and soft ball officials, the Gettysburg Flying Club, and the Fire Company Carnival Committee will be invited to the February meeting of the Board, to discuss the setting up of a calendar of events for next summer.

He also stated that a meeting will be called of the Association's Advisory Committee later in the month, to approve the winter program.

Luther Sachs, chairman of the summer program, made his final report, and submitted his budget and inventory for the season.

How To Treat Public

It was suggested that an evening course be opened on how to treat the public, for the benefit of guides,

COURT RACIAL RULE LAUDED

Commendations of the recent Supreme Court decision voiding school racial segregation were expressed at a YWCA discussion meeting held this morning at 10 o'clock at the Y. It was lauded as "a step in the reduction of racial discrimination, which has given the critics of our democracy an opportunity to oppose and even ridicule practices which do not square with stated principles."

This meeting on the topic of "International Peace and Goodwill" was conducted by the YWCA Public Affairs Committee, with Mrs. Abigail Blackburn, chairman, leading the discussion.

The Y's next open meeting will be held October 7 at 2 p.m. The discussion topic at that time will be "The Work of the United Nations and Its Specialized Agencies." The meeting is open to the public.

Miss Mary Jane Mickey, county home economics extension representative, said the contest is open to both home economics and agriculture club members of the 4-H. Among the projects in which the contests will be held are clothing, food preparation, home improvement, records, achievement, leadership, dairy, garden, meat animal, poultry and tractor maintenance.

Today's Talk

ALONZO STAGG

I can truthfully say that there never has been a time when all sports and athletic events have been so popular and meant so much to the health and happiness of those who engage in them, or are merely spectators, as today.

I like the idea of a Hall of Fame for outstanding baseball heroes. Perhaps some day it will be expanded to take in all great figures in the world of sport. When that day arrives, my vote—if I had one—would be to place at the top of them all one of the finest and greatest of all athletic figures, the name of Prof. Alonzo Stagg, for years the athletic director at Chicago University and one of football's greatest teachers. Today, at the age of 92, he is a noble example of a man who has lived clean and been an inspiration to all who have ever met or known him.

Years and years ago, they "retired" Stagg from Chicago University. They thought he was too old! Well, he went out to Stockton, California, where the West is always in full bloom, and he made a championship team out of a small college football eleven—the College of the Pacific. That was years ago, but I am sure he has not lived an idle moment. I used to watch him when at Chicago, with his Maroon team, half kneeling on the sidelines during the playing, and I'll wager that many a time he was at prayer! He was, and still is, that kind of a man. Eckersall, his famous quarterback, gave this tribute to him when he left college: "Stagg teaches character as well as football!"

Many years ago, I was in Stockton and went to Alonzo's Stagg's home for I wanted to meet a man I had for so long admired. We had a grand talk, and I was invited to a five-mile walk for the next day but had to go on. I now regret I did not stay over. Let me repeat—Alonzo Stagg is now 92 years of age. It looks as though he were going to live forever. I feel sure that he will!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "More And Better—That Little Bit!"

BOYHOOD REPARTEE

"Have you any word for Stevie?"
asked his father, homeward bound.
"What message shall I give him should he chance to drop around?"
And little Henry answered just as promptly as could be:
"If Stevie comes to visit you can say: 'Shut up!' for me."

Now that seems a bitter greeting for a little boy to send From a cottage by Lake Huron to his city-dwelling friend.
But boys are most peculiar in the things they say and do,
And when Stevie got the message
he replied with this: "You too."

I record this "Shut up" greeting and the quick response:
"You too,"
As the repartee of boyhood which some day they may review,
With the hope that in the future when to manhoow they have grown
They will both have better manners than so far they've ever shown.

Report On McCarthy To Be Ready Soon

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of a special committee weighing censure charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said today they hope to complete the framework of their report by the week's end.

The six-senator committee, headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), yesterday unanimously rejected McCarthy's challenge of the impartiality of its legal staff.

The group expressed "absolute confidence in the fairness" of E. Wallace Chadwick, chief counsel Guy G. de Furia, his assistant, "and all other members of the legal staff."

McCarthy had said Chadwick and De Furia had acted as "prosecutors" at the committee's nine-day hearings, and he suggested the group hire new lawyers to help draft its report to the Senate.

The planet, Pluto, is an average of 3,670,000,000 miles from the sun or about 40 times as far as the Earth.

SUGGESTED U.N. CHANGES FACE TOUGH GOING

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wiley, the Wisconsin Republican who is chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, has come up with some ideas which seem headed no place.

His ideas—he offers them for study and not as flat proposals for the United States to follow—are aimed at possible changes in the United Nations' way of doing business.

When the wartime Allies stitched the U.N. together in San Francisco in 1945 they agreed on how they'd operate, writing their agreement into 111 articles of the U.N. Charter.

Foreseeing that some of them might want to change those rules some day, they wrote in a rule for doing just that. It's rule No. 109.

Two-Thirds Approval

It's a beaut. Briefly, it says none of the rules can be changed without approval of two-thirds of the U.N. members—there are now 60—including all 5 permanent members of the Security Council.

The five permanent members are the United States, Russia, Britain, France, and Nationalist China. Rule No. 109 means, then, any one of the five could veto any change.

Rule No. 109 also says the U.N. must, in 1955, put on its docket the question of revising the charter. But whether the members go into a special conference to consider changes is left up to them at the time.

Reds Have 3 Votes

One of the things which makes Wiley unhappy is that Russia really has three votes in the General Assembly while every other nation, including the United States, has only one.

The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics is made up of Republics just as the United States is made up of states but Russia as a whole and two Russian republics, the Ukraine and Byelorussia, are U.N. members.

The Ukraine and Byelorussia couldn't be thrown out unless the charter was changed. And Russia could veto that.

This veto power in the Security Council is also something which needs study, Wiley says. But no one around here is predicting the United States would ever let the veto power be taken from the council's five permanent members.

Study One-Vote Rule

The United States can use that veto any time it wishes to prevent the U.N. from pushing through a major proposal which this country considers injurious to its interests.

Wiley notes another study problem: The present one-state-one-vote arrangement in the General Assembly, which gives the smallest nation as much voting power there as the largest.

Wiley asked his staff on the Foreign Relations Committee to make a study and a report. The report was released last night together with Wiley's introductory statement.

This report suggested some possible solutions but offered none as a final answer. This could be proposed, for instance:

Instead of limiting each member, large or small, to one vote, let each member have a number of votes in accordance with its size, population, national income, and the money it spends to help support the U.N.

It's hard to see the small U.N. nations going for a proposition that would give the big powers a stronger say and themselves less. So it is difficult to see how a two-thirds majority could be mustered for such a change, even if all the big five should approve.

And even though 59 U. N. members approved the weighted-vote formula, Russia could veto the whole business.

Four Injured In Police, Thief Chase

LEBANON, Pa. (AP)—Four persons were injured slightly here yesterday in a series of car smashups which occurred during a gun-shooting auto chase between police and a suspected car thief.

Five shots were fired by police and the car being pursued crashed into a storm shelter and two other cars before the chase ended just outside the city limits.

George Geegy, 33, of Myerstown R. 3, was charged with larceny of an automobile and committed to Lebanon County jail.

Police said they recognized a car Geegey was operating as one reported stolen earlier.

Turkey reports she has 4,300 people more than 100 years old out of a population of 21 million.

Too Much Catsup And You're "Disorderly"

CHICAGO, (AP) — Judge Oscar Caplan dismissed disorderly conduct charges against Gus Scopos, 51, who spilled hot grease on a customer during an argument. But he fined the customer, Kenneth Carpenter, 32, $25 for disorderly conduct after Scopos complained yesterday:

"He ordered one hamburger—mind you, Judge, just one—then he poured a whole bottle of catsup over it!"

FOUR HOLDUPS TO BUY HORSES

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Police are holding a 27-year-old nattily dressed bookkeeper who, they say, has admitted four loan company holdups and has spent part of the loot to buy riding horses.

Det. Insp. Alois Skonieczka identified the man as Gregory Beery, R. 1, Girard, Pa.

The Lake City Finance and Loan Co. in Erie and neighboring Conneaut, Ohio, has been the victim of the holdups in which a total of $2,082 was taken.

Last night Miss Dolores Krupiniski, cashier of the Erie office, spotted Beery walking on an Erie street and identified him as the man who had robbed her office twice, Skonieczka said. Police arrested Beery. Skonieczka said Beery told him money from the first holdup was used to buy three riding horses. Part of the additional loot went for clothes, he added.

Beery was charged with four counts of armed robbery.

FINDERS BUDGETED

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—Sheriff Charles Raab asked the supervisors to include two bloodhounds in Humboldt County's budget because more people are getting lost.

HIGH COST OF LIVING IS NEW KOREAN CRISIS

SEOUL (AP)—Skyrocketing living costs have created a major economic headache for South Korea's government.

The official price index jumped 21.5 per cent in the month ended July 20, and many prices have soared higher since.

Korean housewives are paying 30 per cent more for eggs than two weeks ago. Butter, milk, rice, meat and cigarettes are up about the same.

President Syngman Rhee hurried back from a vacation to discuss the situation with his State Council yesterday. And from Washington came word that the United States is going to help.

Allocate 45 Million

The Foreign Operations Administration announced that 45 million dollars had been allocated to maintain civilian relief and a steady flow of essential commodities into South Korea.

The Washington announcement said the 45 million dollars would be used to import fertilizer, raw cotton, petroleum products and miscellaneous raw materials.

The withdrawal of U.S. forces is blamed in many quarters for South Korea's economic instability.

Korean merchants are watching the evaporation of a major trade market—the free-spending American soldier.

Calm Fathers May Be Help To Stork

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—If father can be trusted to take a reassuring attitude, let him be with mother during the last hours before birth of their child, says a nationally known obstetrician.

Dr. F. Bayard Carter, Duke University professor, told the Tri-State Obstetrics Seminar here yesterday that "a reassuring attitude will help their wives through the ordeal of actual delivery.

"Other husbands are so nervous themselves that they transmit their states of nervous tension to their wives."

TRUCK, BUS COLLIDE

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two boys were injured slightly yesterday when a truck collided with a school bus a mile south of nearby Pillow, Dauphin County.

State police said the truck operated by Robert L. Bass, 29, of Harrisburg, struck the rear of the bus driven by Mrs. Blanche Zerbe, Pillow.

There were 23 passengers in the bus at the time. The injured were treated at the scene for minor bruises.

wealth. Unhappily this is not the case, and the Democrats are as prone to error as the Republicans.

Before us is a folder put out by the Volunteers for Leader, an organization of patriots supporting State Senator George M. Leader for governor. It is headed by distinguished adherents to the Democratic faith. District Attorney Dilworth is state chairman; Mayor Clark the Philadelphia chairman. Other officers include Mrs. John F. Lewis Jr., treasurer, and Councilman Raymond Pace Alexander, vice chairman.

Under "vital statistics" the folder says of Candidate Leader:

"Born 1918, of Revolutionary period ancestry. Son of a state senator, Leader attended public schools in Gettysburg, York County, Pa."

When President Eisenhower, before entering the White House, acquired a farm on the edge of the historic Gettysburg battlefield, the deed was recorded in the Adams County courthouse in Gettysburg, the county seat. It never occurred to him to run over to York County to find Gettysburg and the Adams County courthouse.

Adams County is renowned for its apples and its peaches. In prohibition days some of the best applejack in the country was distilled by Adams County experts. We have a distinct recollection of "dry" days at Harrisburg when we served as a tester in a contest to determine which was superior, Adams County or Lehigh County applejack.

The state printer of the period, a lad called Bob Miller (he put in a hitch as postmaster of Gettysburg) provided the Adams County specimens and the late Senator Horace Schantz brought in samples from Lehigh. Well, sir, it took a whole session of the Legislature to give the contest the attention it so richly deserved. On the day of final adjournment it was declared a draw.

Of course it ill behooves us to become critical of blokes who play tricks with Pennsylvania geography. As some readers will recall, we once won distinction of a sort by moving the Pine Creek Gorge, or Grand Canyon of the Commonwealth, from Tioga to Sullivan County or maybe it was the other way around.

But moving Gettysburg from one county to another is something else again. Here you have a town known the world over, famed wherever history is read. And, by gosh, quicker'n a wink it's picked up and transferred from Adams to York County.

What's our friend, Henry Scharf, manager of the Gettysburg hotel, to think of this? What's to be the reaction of the burgess and the Town Council of Gettysburg? What of Bill Duncan, the grandstand manager, who was born and educated in Gettysburg?

Now that Gettysburg has been properly located, we suggest to the Volunteers for Leader that one other error in their folder should be corrected. The senator was not elected to two terms; he is serving his first.

With everything straightened out, let's get on with the campaign.

Governor Fine has issued the following proclamation calling for the 1954 observance of Pennsylvania Week:

Pennsylvania is truly a great industrial State.

It ranks first in sixty-one important products including iron, steel, coke, and cement, and with mines, quarries, and manufacturing. They have an annual output value of $22,477,886,800.

Pennsylvania is one of the top states in the production of agricultural crops, fruits, vegetables, livestock and livestock products.

The residents of the Keystone State are blessed with the splendid opportunities for vigorous intellectual, cultural, and religious life. We have thousands of fine churches with more than 5,000,000 communicants. We have hundreds of universities and colleges, public and private schools, libraries and museums of science and the fine arts.

More than 52 per cent of the State's land area is still growing trees, providing a natural background for hunting, fishing, and all forms of outdoor recreation.

Our history is the history of the foundation of this Republic.

Pennsylvanians have a right to know about about and thus appreciate the unlimited advantages and opportunities that are theirs.

I call upon all citizens to participate in this ninth annual State-wide event, so that we shall better understand the past, appreciate the present, and move forward to a still greater and more prosperous future.

The talkative driver who turns his head to look at his traveling companions is a menace on the highway.

The number of such drivers is legion, and their deadlines has yet to be computed by statisticians. No one knows how many accidents have been caused by this foolhardy yet common practice.

After experiences with turnhead drivers, many people have made it a rule never again to ride with a driver who takes his eyes off the road to look at them.

The driver who takes his eyes off the road to gaze at companions for "just a second" is actually driving blind over 58 feet of road at 40 miles per hour; 66 feet at 45, and 73 feet at 50.

Giants Beat Braves 2-1; Dodgers Shut Out Redlegs; Crucial Series To Be Test

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

As the National League pennant chase rushed to a climax, it became more and more evident today that the three-game Brooklyn-New York series next week would decide the winner.

Milwaukee, for all intents and purposes, is out of the running. The Giants took care of that little item last night with a 2-1 victory over the Braves. With 12 games to play, the Braves are five and a half back, a virtually insurmountable margin.

The Giants still lead the Brooks by three and a half games. Either, of course, could collapse before next Monday when the set gets under way in Ebbets Field, but at the rate the two have been going, that's hardly likely.

Braves Can Help

If the Braves win the next two from the Giants, they could help the Brook cause. From there on, the Giants play six games in a row with one club — the Phillies.

Brooklyn kept in the race last night with a 4-0 triumph over the Cincinnati Redlegs behind the fine pitching of Johnny Podres. In "mean nothing" National League games, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Phillies, 5-2, and the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates split a doubleheader. The Cubs won the first, 9-2 and the Pirates the nightcap, 4-0.

In the American League, where it's all over but the shouting, the magic number for the Cleveland Indians became "2" when they turned back Washington, 5-2. Any combination of two Cleveland victories or two losses by the New York Yankees and the Indians are the new league champions.

Athletics Blank Sox

The Yanks, meanwhile, continued to play it out by crushing Detroit, 11-0. Baltimore beat Boston, 3-1, and Philadelphia shut out Chicago, 1-0, in other American League action.

The Giants had their troubles whipping the Braves, who had a 1-0 lead going into the seventh inning. Don Mueller started with a single. Dusty Rhodes walked and both advanced on a wild pitch. Willie Mays was passed intentionally to load the bases.

That was all for Gene Conley, who had been pitching well. Chet Nichols replaced Conley and on his first pitch, Bobby Hofman, pinch hitting for Henry Thompson, singled Mueller home. Rhodes, who collided with Brave shortstop Johnny Logan on the basepath, was out at the plate.

Sal Maglie started for the Giants and was replaced by Hoyt Wilhelm in the eighth. The reliever got credit for the triumph.

Podres Hurls 3-Hitter

Podres tossed a three-hitter at the Redlegs to lead the Brooks to heir sixth straight victory. The Brooks collected nine hits including Carl Furillo's 17th homer of the season.

Red Schoendienst and Rip Repulski hit successive home runs in the eighth inning to break up a tie ball game and give the Cards their victory over the Phils.

Bob Rush coasted to victory in the first game over the Pirates. Ralph Kiner knocked in four runs with two singles and a double. In the nightcap, however, the Cubs collected a paltry five hits off Bob Friend.

The Indians scored all their runs against the Senators in the first inning and from there on Mike Garcia coasted to his 18th victory.

The Yank's rolled up 16 hits against the Tigers and played as though they still were in the thick of the pennant race. Tom Morgan hurled the shutout and Ed Robinson and Bob Cerv knocked in all the runs, Robinson sent six across the plate with a single, double and home run and Cerv sent five home with a pair of home runs.

Marty Marion made his debut as manager of the White Sox, but it was inauspicious as Arnold Portocarrero tossed a four-hitter in outdueling Virgil Trucks.

Joe Coleman was the big man in the Orioles' triumph. He set the Red Sox down with a paltry five hits.

Eastern League

Albany's Senators meet the Reading Indians at Reading tonight to open the final round of the Eastern League Governor's Cup playoffs.

Tuesday the Senators met Wilkes-Barre, eliminating the pennant-winning Barons, 6-4, with a three-run rally in the eighth inning.

Albany, which finished third in regular season play, took four games of six with the Barons in the best-of-seven series. Reading, which placed fourth, gained its finals berth Saturday night with a fourth straight triumph over second-place Elmira.

The scene will shift to Albany after Wednesday and Thursday games at Reading. If sixth and seventh games are needed they will be played at Reading.

BOUT IS POSTPONED

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The scheduled bout between middleweight George Johnson of Trenton, N. J., and welterweight Del Flanagan of Minneapolis was postponed indefinitely yesterday when Johnson came up with an acute attack of appendicitis.

The hard-hitting Johnson was operated on yesterday and Trenton's McKinley Hospital officials said he will be confined for about a week.

Promoter Herman Taylor had billed the card for Oct. 8 at the Philadelphia Arena.

CHAMPION AND EX-CHAMP ARE PAIRED IN GOLF

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The form-fitting U. S. Women's Amateur golf championship, which has gone through two days with only a few notable surprises, has reached the stage where it begins to make sense.

Most of the rank outsiders were missing from the list of 32 players going into today's single round of 18 hole matches. A few of the prime favorites were gone, too.

But the one common-sense fact left to reckon with was that Mary Lena Faulk, the gaunt Georgian who won the title last year, and Grace Lenczyk, the comeback-bound 1948 champion, were paired in a match that could have an important bearing on the championship.

Other Top Matches

Other top matches on schedule for today on the tight little 6,034-yard, par 36-37—73 Allegheny Country Club course included Polly Riley, 1953 runner-up to Miss Faulk, against Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore; upset-winner Virginia Dennehy of Lake Forest, Ill., against Blonde Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., Seattle's Pat Lesser and England's Elizabeth Price in an international duel of Curtis Cup players, and Mrs. Marjorie McMillan Lindsey of Decatur, Ill., against youthful Judy Frank of Alpine, N. J.

The two Illinois players, Miss Dennehy and Mrs. Lindsey, turned in the standout performances of yesterday's third round.

Virginia, the younger half of a mother-daughter golfing combination, startled the friendly little group of spectators watching the tournament, when she sank a sensational putt on the 18th green to eliminate British women's champion Frances (Bunty) Stephens, one up.

Mrs. Lindsey played 12 holes four under par to administer a 7 and 6 lashing to Curtis Cup star Grace DeMoss Smith.

Championship Race Friday At Speedway

Sportsman model stock car racing moves into the last quarter of its season this Friday at the Lincoln Speedway when the Penn-Mar Racing Association sanctions the 35-lap championship trophy race. Starting time is 8:30 p.m. All of the big names in the association will be on hand and a close battle is expected.

There is some speculation that one of the "darkhorses" of the association may manage to win this one. Jimmy Paterson, "Shorty" Kerschner and Vernon Noble have been driving exceptionally well the past several weeks and with any kind of a break one of these speedsters may flash home the victor. However, top consideration must be given to such established stars as Lancaster's Walt Ragan, Conowingo's Junie Taylor, Bobby Abel, Wrightsville, and Vic Nauman Jr., Elizabethtown. Taylor has been the top winner in the Penn-Mar ranks this year and must be listed as the man to beat. Ragan and Abel are currently staging a torrid battle for the number one slot in the point standings. Nauman, while he has had a very disappointing year so far, is still a driver of exceptional skill and cannot be counted out of the running.

EXPECT ROCKY TO KEEP TITLE VIA KNOCKOUT

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Determined Ezzard Charles gets a second crack at heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano in Yankee Stadium tonight and the odds are 1-5 that he'll get whipped again.

The 33-year old ex-champion from Cincinnati went the full 15 rounds with the powerful Brockton blaster last June 17 but the return figures to be a short and explosive battle.

Most of the experts feel that Charles will have to shoot the works quickly in the hopes of stopping the ever-pressing champion and that instead of scoring, he will be chopped down by Marciano's savage swings. The pick here is Rocky by a knockout within eight rounds.

Expect 46,000 Fans

The betting is 5-12 that the 30-year old champion will stop the perennial challenger and wreck his unprecedented third bid to become the first ex-king to regain the heavyweight throne. You can get 6 to 1 if you think Charles will stop Marciano.

They'll start swinging at 10:30 p.m. EDT before some 46,000 fans. Promoter Jim Norris, encouraged by a brisk ticket sale yesterday and by a favorable forecast of "fair and partly cloudy at the worst," still hopes to do $525,000 and upwards at the gate. The last one lured 47,585 of the faithful and grossed $543,092. If the fight is postponed by rain, it will be held Thursday.

Coast to coast closed circuit television to a record 70 theaters in 50 cities may add another $200,000 to the gate. There will be no home television. CBS will radio broadcast the fight across the nation.

waitresses and others who come in frequent contact with tourists. It was stated that "most people do not know how to direct visitors to various sections of the battlefield, or to the different types of accommodations available.

"Word-of-mouth advertising is the most effective kind," one member stated, "If Gettysburg gets the reputation of being a good tourist town with courteous, helpful people, the number of tourists will increase."

Board members were informed that the Community Chest, which provides the major portion of the Association's income, has reduced the appropriation by $1,000 for next year. The Community Chest drive last year fell short of its quota, and it has reduced its quota for the coming drive. However, a "cushion" will be provided in case of emergencies and the Board felt that it could manage with the reduction, from $7,000 to $6,000.

Baseball League Meeting Friday

A meeting of the South Penn Baseball League will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the American Legion Home, Baltimore St., it was announced today by Chester Shriver, secretary-treasurer.

Included in the business to be transacted will be the return of forfeit money and the hearing of the protest lodged by Wenksville on the league's decision to decide the second and third-place teams. The coin toss placed Taneytown in second place for the playoffs and Wenksville in third place.

Scouts and Explorers of the district, with December 16 as the date for the party.

At the request of numerous scouts, the committee voted to make the Christmas party one at which the scouts will not receive presents. Previously the scouts exchanged gifts at the annual Christmas party. This year each boy will bring a gift with him as usual. But the gifts will all go to the youngsters at Hoffman's Orphanage and Paradise Protectory.

Troops 73, 78 and 79 were asked to place window displays during October in connection with the annual Community Chest drive in the borough to show activities of the scouts at that time.

Plan Haines Party

Big event for next year, Field Executive Charles S. Harris reported, will be a safari to be held in honor of Col. Mahlon Haines' 80th birthday. The York chain shoe store owner is planning to have all of the scouts of the York-Adams area as his guests for a three-day encampment June 9, 10, and 11 at Haines' Ranch near Hellam.

Harris said a meeting of scout officials will be held at Camp Tuckahoe October 23 to arrange plans for the year's activities. Each troop will have an opportunity to win a special safari emblem by such activities as increasing membership, advancement of scouts in rank and participation in scouting activities.

Plans for participation by Catholic troops of the district in the annual Rededication program on the Feast of Christ the King at Harrisburg October 24 were outlined by the Rev. Fr. Wallace E. Sawdy.

Meet Next On October 12

Twenty-five units have already asked for permission to use Camp Tuckahoe, near Dillsburg, over weekends during the winter months, Harris reported. Troops planning winter encampments there should apply two months in advance, he said.

Plans for the University of Scouting session to be held this winter were discussed with the district planning to hold the meetings at Littlestown, if possible. Plans for an Explorer Ball at York December 28 and the annual York-Adams Council dinner January 27 were discussed.

Next meeting of the District committee will be held October 12 at the office of Attorney Hartman.

PAUL RICHARDS QUITS WHITE SOX TO JOIN ORIOLES

By JAMES DAILEY

CHICAGO (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles finally have squeezed loose from the Chicago White Sox a member of the fabulous Lane-Richards combine.

Sox Manager Paul Richards quit yesterday and accepted terms to be combination general manager-field manager of the Orioles. He was succeeded immediately by Marty Marion, Sox coach and former St. Louis Cardinals and Browns manager.

Sox General Manager Frank Lane and Richards, since teaming up in 1951, have kept the Chicago American League club in almost constant pennant contention. And the Sox, seldom a financial bonanza in the past, have counted more than a million in attendance in each Lane-Richards year.

But the Orioles since their conversion from the St. Louis Browns last winter have appeared determined to lure one or the other of the successful Sox combination for their own.

Offered Lane Contract

Last winter the new Baltimore management reportedly offered Lane the equivalent of $100,000 for a five year contract to leave the Sox. The Comiskey family, which owns the Chicago team, was forced, reluctantly since he was under a contract which had two more years to run, to extend Lane's contract another five years and hike his salary to a reported $7,0000.

Richards is to leave Chicago today for his home in Waxahachie, Texas, for a short rest before formal signing of papers in Baltimore Sept. 24. He said he had accepted the general managership but he seemed uncertain about his field duties.

In Baltimore, Oriole President Clarence W. Miles said Richards definitely will direct the Orioles in the field, replacing current Manager Jimmy Dykes.

Thin, Pale, Ill, Three Americans Are Released By Red Abductors

and cameramen. "Well, I see the newsmen make the news today," Applegate shouted in his usual bantering manner.

Applegate said at the end of the news conference he believed the Communists had benefited the Chinese materially by halting graft, opium smoking and drug traffic "but all at the expense of the personal liberty of the people.

"China is a police state—as far as I could see it was no different from a fascist dictatorship. Before this happened to me I was a reporter, and as a reporter I tried to stay neutral in the cold war between freedom and communism.

Will Fight Tyranny

"But I'm not neutral any more. I'm going to get into it. I'm going to fight that tyranny any way I can from now on."

As the newsmen gathered around Applegate shouted again: "Let us go up to our rooms and calm down first. We're too shaky to talk. We'll talk to you later."

All three men were bearded. Dixon, 25, seemed in the worst shape — thin and very pale.

The trio had been captured by the Reds March 21, 1953, while sailing Applegate's yacht to the Portuguese colony of Macao.

The Reds did not admit that they were holding the three men until last May at the Geneva conference. Former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee, during his recent visit to Peiping with a Labor party delegation, interceded with the Red officials on their behalf after receiving an appeal from Applegate's mother.

Yacht Confiscated

Peiping Radio announced last Sunday they were being deported and the yacht confiscated. It said the three had admitted to the crime of "intrusion into China's territorial waters."

Krasner's Chinese fiancee, Wang Ying, and two Chinese boat boys were captured along with them. The sea captain said today he had not seen the three Chinese at any time during his captivity and does not know now where they are.

Applegate wore soiled blue jeans and a sport shirt, apparently the same clothing he had on when he was captured a year and a half ago. Dixon was in slacks and Krasner in soiled civilian clothing.

After 15 minutes in their hotel rooms, the three men held a press conference in the hotel lobby.

South Gate Will Be Used Friday For GHS Game

Entrance to the Gettysburg High School athletic field for Friday night's football game between the Warriors and Delone will be made at the south gate at the rear of the gymnasium, it was announced today by George Forney, athletic director.

Construction of the new wing on the north side of the high school building has necessitated several changes to handle the crowd.

The former main entrance at the northwest gate will be closed and all fans will enter by the south gate. Four ticket booths are being erected at that gate for ticket selling accommodations Friday. Visiting fans will again occupy the south stands and home fans the north stands.

Every effort is being made to alleviate the parking problem due to the elimination of the former parking lot where the new wing is now being erected.

Forney said today that it is planned to park cars on the practice field which lies immediately south of the field—providing the field is dry enough to prevent cars cutting up the ground. A stone roadway is being constructed over the embankment leading to the field to provide more traction on the incline. It is felt the field will be usable under light rain or damp conditions but if heavy rain occurs or the field is exceedingly wet, drivers will be forced to find parking spaces on nearby streets such as is done regularly at Hanover and Waynesboro.

SHERIDAN QUITS AT LEHIGH U.

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—William (Billy) Sheridan, dean of college wrestling coaches in the United States, has retired after 41 years at Lehigh University.

Dr. Martin D. Whitaker, president of the university, announced Sheridan's retirement yesterday to the opening faculty meeting of the new school year.

Sheridan came to Lehigh in 1911 from the niversity of Pennsylvania where he served as trainer and wrestling coach for a year.

He was varsity wrestling coach at Lehigh until 1952 when he was named assistant director of athletics. During his coaching career Lehigh moved to the top in the collegiate wrestling world. Sheridan's teams won 222 dual meets, lost 82 and had 7 ties.

In this period, he developed 59 Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Assn. titleholders, five National Collegiate champions, five National AAU winners. Three of his wrestlers represented this country on Olympic teams.

BULLETS "WIN" SCRIME AFFAIR

The Gettysburg and Shippensburg State Teachers College football squads engaged in a two-hour scrimmage session Tuesday evening under the lights of the Gettysburg High School field with several hundred students and local fans as spectators.

There were no kickoffs or extra point tries but otherwise the scrimmage was held pretty much under game conditions. The Bullets "outscored" their rivals 24-12.

Shippensburg presented a very heavy squad which gave the Bullets a stiff workout all the way. Jay Schmitt, former Gettysburg High School star, occupied the left tackle slot for the Teachers during part of the session.

Coach Johnny Yovicsin used up most of his squad personnel during the workout and limited his starting backfield to about 20 minutes of action.

Lebanon Valley will come here for another practice drill Saturday at 2 p.m.

STAGG KNOCKED OUT

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Amos Alonzo Stagg, hardy 92-year-old dean of American football coaches, was knocked out in a practice session at Stockton College Monday—but was on his feet and bounding about before doctors and an ambulance reached the field.

Stagg said he was not hurt although he was unconscious five minutes after a charging center bowled him over.

TWO SORE SPOTS THREATEN PENN STATE GRIDDERS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Quarterback and left guard, a couple of sore spots that everyone knew about long ago, today are still the top worries of Penn State Coach Rip Engle.

The ability of the 1954 Lions to live up to pre season ratings that have them ranked with Army near the top of the Eastern pack depends entirely on these question-mark posts.

Part of the high rating given Penn State is based on the fact that Engle has 17 returning lettermen including 11 linemen—mostly 1953 starters. That gives him two veterans at each line spot except left guard.

Coach Is Baffled

This year's Rados-less team has the veteran coach baffled. For Tony Rados, slick passing quarterback of the last two years and the East's leading 1953 passer, has been graduated.

Two weeks after the opening of drills and 10 days before the first game at Illinois Engle answers, "Why don't you ask me an easy question?" when queried about his starting quarterback.

"One boy passes well; another runs well, and still another defends well," he just about moaned. "But none of them does everything well. Oh, what I wouldn't do to have Rados back!"

Has 4 Candidates

In practice Engle has been switching quarterbacks by the play. In the run to succeed the Steelton slingshot are Don Bailey, Pittsburgh, Rados' understudy; Bob Hoffman, junior letterman from Farrell; Jim Hochberg, Johnstown, a junior, and Milt Plum, Westville, N. J., sophomore.

Engle's left guard problems developed through the graduation of first stringer Pete Schoderbek and the loss via scholarship of Sam Green. On top of this, Engle says the boys he planned on to fill the gap nave not come through as expected.

Holdover Chuck Sowers, Monongahela, and newcomers Pete Petroff, California, Pa., and Sam Valentine, Sykesville, are the leading candidates for the starting guard assignment.

Vic Janowicz Joins Washington Redskins

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vic Janowicz, one of the best football players ever to come out of Ohio State, signed up with the Washington Redskins today and presumably said goodbye to major league baseball.

Janowicz would not say it in so many words, but you got the idea he was through with baseball after serving two years with the last place Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League. Playing third base and catching, Janowicz batted .151 this season.

Robert W. Upton, 70, Defeated For GOP Nomination To Succeed Late Senator Charles W. Tobey

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republican Sen. Robert W. Upton of New Hampshire was the most notable casualty yesterday as primary warmups in nine states produced party candidates for the November elections.

Otherwise, congressional incumbents weathered this preliminary skirmishing—the biggest batch of primaries this year.

Voters in New Hampshire, New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Colorado, Utah, Minnesota and Washington picked nominees for five Senate and 92 House seats, for six governorships and a host of other state and local offices. The vote was reported light in several states.

The selection of candidates for the Nov. 2 balloting will be completed later this month with a primary in Rhode Island and conventions in New York State.

Cotton Beats Upton

Upton, 70, was defeated by veteran U.S. Rep. Norris Cotton, 54, in a three-way race for the GOP nomination to serve the last two years of the late Sen. Charles W. Tobey's six-year term. Running third was Wesley Powell, a 37-year-old attorney who four years ago came close to unseating Tobey in the primary. In recent years, Republican nomination has meant election in New Hampshire.

Upton, who has been serving under appointment since Tobey's death last year, was the second U.S. senator to suffer defeat in a primary test this year. The other was Sen. Alton Lennon (D-NC).

Six House incumbents also have been beaten in bids for renomination.

In another contest that drew national attention, former Democratic Rep. John A. Carroll, 53, won his party's nomination for the Senate from Colorado. He downed Mayor Quigg Newton of Denver. Carroll formerly was an adviser to President Truman. He will face Lt. Gov. Gordon Allott, who was unopposed for the GOP Senate nomination.

Johnson For Governor

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson now holds the seat for which Carroll and Allott will vie. Johnson chose to run instead for governor of Colorado and he was unopposed in the Democratic primary. Johnson's opponent Nov. 2 will be State Sen. Donald G. Brotzman, the only candidate in the GOP gubernatorial primary.

Other highlights of yesterday's primaries:

Wisconsin — Fred R. Zimmerman, 74-year-old foe of Sen. McCarthy, built up a commanding lead in his try for Republican renomination as secretary of state.

With almost half of the state's precincts reporting, Zimmerman had 77,488 votes to 55,618 for Miss Joyce M. Larkin, a former weekly newspaper publisher who ran with the endorsement of the state GOP organization. Zimmerman has had 10 terms as secretary of state.

Gov. Kohler Unopposed

Gov. Walter Kohler had no opposition for a third GOP primary, but William Proxmire, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate two years ago, and James E. Doyle, co-chairman of the National Americans for Democratic Action, battled it out for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Proxmire led in early returns.

Only one of Wisconsin's 10 House members—Republican Rep. Gardner Withrow — had primary opposition and Withrow led two rivals.

Utah—Mrs. Reva Beck Bosone, red-haired veteran of two House terms, won an easy victory in her quest for the Democratic nomination in Utah's 2nd District and a crack at Republican Rep. William A. Dawson, who unseated her two years ago. Dawson was unopposed for renomination.

R. F. Murphy Wins

Massachusetts—A veteran member of the Bay State Legislature, Robert F. Murphy, won the Democratic nomination for governor in his first try at statewide office. Supported by the State Democratic Convention, Murphy decisively defeated Francis E. Kelly, a Boston lawyer who has served as lieutenant governor and attorney general. Murphy will face Republican Gov Christian A. Herter, who was unopposed for renomination.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall had no opposition in the GOP primary and he will be opposed in November by Foster Furcolo, state treasurer and former Congress member, who outran two opponents for the Democratic Senate nomination.

JOHN C. MILLER, GOP SENATOR, BOLTS PARTY

HARRISBURG (AP) — Republican State Sen. John Carl Miller bolted his party's ranks to line up today in support of the Democratic candidate for governor.

Miller, a freshman senator from Beaver County, said he is backing Sen. George M. Leader for governor because of the "disastrous leadership" of the Republican party by Gov. John S. Fine.

The Aliquippa steelworker is the first prominent Republican to bolt his party in the current general election campaign.

Miller singled out what he termed the "atrocity of political mismanagement" by the Fine administration. He said he could not "in all conscience and sincerity" support a Republican ticket which "so blatantly bespeaks the odious and reactionary policies of the discredited Grundy machine."

Praise, Criticism

The action brought praise from the Democrats and criticism from Republicans.

Leader received the news with this statement:

"When a man who has spent his political life in one party decides to make a switch, there is unquestionably a tremendous motivation behind it and I proudly welcome the support of Sen. Miller."

Miles Horst, GOP state chairman, termed Miller an "embittered, defeated and descredited politician."

Horst said in a statement, "John Miller was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from the 25th District in the May Primaries and the only person interested in Miller is Miller."

"The Republicans haven't lost anything and the Democrats have gained nothing," he said, adding:

"It is interesting to note that the release (statement) by the Democrats made not mention of the fact that Miller voted for the state sales tax."

The sales tax, which the Democrats have pledged themselves to abolish, has become the major issue of the campaign.

Miller, in a statement released by the Democratic State Committee late yesterday, said:

"I have been hoping for several years that the Republican party in Pennsylvania would follow more liberal policies instead of the archaic policies of the Grundy leadership."

He referred to former U. S. Sen. Joseph R. Grundy, a long-time leader in the GOP and founder of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Assn.

Leader praised Miller for his "honesty and courage ot make the "While I have not had an opstand."

portunity to talk with him I am informed he is one of a number of prominent Republicans who assertedly have had their fill of the way in which the Republican party has fallen under the rigid, unilateral control of the Grundy machine," Leader said.

"It takes great honesty and courage to make the stand Sen. Miller has made and particularly so when his family's political lineage goes back to Abraham Lincoln," Leader added.

Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood, GOP gubernatorial candidate, when told of Miller's decision said:

"I will comment in due course. I have no plan to comment at this moment."

Miller, whose first four-year term as state senator representing Beaver and Lawrence counties still has two years to run, was defeated in the May 18 primary fight in a bid for the Republican nomination for Congress. Rep. Louis Graham turned back Miller's challenge.

Miller first came to the Legislature as a member of the State House of Representatives in 1950. Two years later he defeated incumbent Sen. Samuel G. Neff (D-Lawrence) for the Senate seat.

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—The Pottsville Republican printed its first edition in a new nine-column format Monday. The paper previously had used the standard eight columns.

A spokesman for the newspaper said the new style was adopted for greater reading ease. The paper is about an inch wider and is able to print more news to the page.

LOCKER THIEF RULED INSANE

George T. Glisson, locker-room thief, shows a need for psychiatric attention and should be sent to a mental institution, two Norristown physicians notified the Montgomery County Court Monday.

Later Judge George C. Corson in answer to inquiries said if there were no formal objections the man would be sent to the Farview State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

Dr. Saul Steinberg and Dr. E. S. Buyers examined Glisson over the weekend. They reported he resists all attempts at feeding and told them he has heard the voice of his father who is dead. He insists that his father appear at his bedside.

Glisson who faces trial for college and locker thefts, including Gettysburg College, totaling $25,000 has been on a hunger strike since August 27, the day after he was arrested after being trapped on the Villanova University campus. Warden Peter J. Reilly said he drank a glass of orange juice Monday but refused other food.

Seek 2 Alternates For Murder Jury

HARRISBURG (AP)—Prospective jurors were examined in Dauphin County Court today to choose two alternates to fill out the panel for the murder trial of Samuel Huffman.

Five jurors were chosen yesterday and seven the day before. Two alternates will be chosen to fill in the case of sickness or if some juror is excused for other reasons during the trial.

Huffman and Richard Eichelberger, 23, both of Harrisburg, are charged with murder in the fatal beating last May of Albert H. Richards, 48, in the latter's suburban Paxtang apartment.

Police said Richards was beaten on the head with a wooden stool.

Eichelberger will be tried on a murder charge later.

$1,472,807 TO BE REFUNDED

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. today has approval of the Public Utility Commission to refund $1,472,807 to some 2,400 large-quantity commercial, industrial and resale consumers whose bills are affected by its fuel adjustment clause.

The refunds, to include interest at six per cent a year, reflect over-payments from Feb. 18, 1951, to Aug. 11, 1952.

The company, with offices in Allentown, said refund payments can be completed to "substantially" all of the affected customers within two weeks of receipt of the commission's order.

The utility's fuel clause went into effect Feb. 10, 1948, and increased or decreased rates of large quantity users in line with its coal costs.

On Feb. 14, 1951, the PUC found the fuel clause unreasonable as a rate for electric service because it was applied to all energy used by large-quantity consumers, including hydro-electric power which is not affected by the cost of coal

U.S. Deficit Tops $4 Billion Despite Big Security Slash; Up Others To Spur Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has boosted the deficit it foresees for this fiscal year to nearly 4¾ billion dollars even while slashing a new 3 billion from major security programs.

But it has upped planned outlays in a dozen civilian fields where they could be a spur to production and employment.

The annual revision of spending and income estimates for the current fiscal year, which began July 1, was made public last night, indicating these over-all changes:

Total spending was reduced from the $65,600,000,000 planned when President Eisenhower submitted the fiscal 1955 budget to Congress last January to a new estimate of 64 billions. This compares with spending of $67,600,000,000 in the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The estimate of net budget receipts was cut from $62,700,000,000 in January to $59,300,000,000. Principal factors contributing to the reduction were congressional tax cuts, bigger-than expected refunds, and a sharp drop in corporation tax payments. Collections last fiscal year came to $64,600,000,000.

Will Chop Spending

Since the $3,400,000,000 dip in expected revenues outweighed the administration's estimate of its probable deficit at the end of the fiscal year rose from $2,90,000,000 predicted in January to $4,700,000,000. In fiscal 1954, red ink spending came to 3 billions.

However, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey told a news conference the administration would try "every day, every week and every month" to chop spending where it would hurt neither defense nor the economy.

And W. J. McNeil, assistant secretary of defense and chief fiscal officer of the Pentagon, told newsmen that despite the new reduction in defense spending, industry would get about twice the volume of defense contracts this year that it received last year. This action, by putting an increased flow of defense contracts in the pipeline, would tend to spur production and employment.

Secretary Humphrey said, "We are seeking more defense for less money, rather than changing the state of our defenses."

Eisenhower's January forecasts to Congress for security outlays this year were revised along these lines:

Total "major national security program" outlays — including direct military spending, military aid to Allies, atomic energy activities and stockpiling of strategc materals — will be $41,900,000,000 this year instead of $44,860,000,000 programmed last January. The new estimate represented a $4,300,000,000 drop from last fiscal year and a decline of $8,300,000,000 from peak defense outlays after the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

The revision of the January direct military spending estimates cut this biggest national security spending category down from 37½ billion dollars to 35½ billions.

Other Big Changes

The other major security programs underwent these changes:

Mutual military aid — down a billion dollars to 3½ billions; Atomic Energy Commission—down about 225 millions to $2,200,000,000, still a peak atomic outlay; stockpiling—up by 300 million dollars to 900 millions.

Spending increases — nearly all outside the direct security field — amounted to $1,400,000,000. These included:

Veterans services and benefits—up 57 million dollars; housing and community development—up from a January estimate of 385 million dollars net income to the government to 367 millions net outlay; Commodity Credit Corporation — up 481 million dollars, mostly for farm price supports, to $1,646,000,000; interest — up from $6,635,000,000 to $6,875,000000.

The new budget lifted the estimate of how much the federal debt would total next June 30 from 273 billions predicted by Eisenhower in January to 274½ billions.

COED'S SLAYER CALLED CAMPUS "CASANOVA"

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Jack Ray, 34-year-old lifer and newly confessed killer of a Penn State coed, was pictured today as a campus Casanova with a third grade education.

By his own word, he was twice a murderer, perhaps three times; a car thief and a dope pusher, all within a few short months of a whirlwind crime career that ended 14 years ago.

This is the portrait of a man whose confession is being studied hopefully—if skeptically—by officers in State College, Pa., where Rachel Taylor was beaten to death March 28, 1940.

Her bludgeoned and stabbed body, stripped of nearly all clothing, was found six miles from the Penn State campus. Ray said he fetched a letter from her bosom as the prize of his crime.

The letter, according to his confession, was written by his expectant girl friend, threatening in a fit of anger to expose his dope selling to students.

He said he had nothing against Miss Taylor. The 17-year-old Wildwood, N. J., coed just happened to be a friend of his paramour whose letter detailed his illegal activities under the guise of a college boy selling sweaters. Actually, he told a reporter, he was "pushing" heroin—selling about 150 capsules every three or four weeks for $1.40 a capsule.

Ray's confession, obtained by Deputy Sheriff Abner Dear after a behind-the-walls tip in the state prison here, said he beat Miss Taylor to death with a .45 pistol —the same one used in an Oklahoma shooting.

He ripped her clothing off until he found the missive that threatened to destroy him hidden in her brassiere.

Dear said he airmailed Ray's confession to Pennsylvania yesterday. Officers there, weary of following hundreds of leads that fizzled, said they would study it, reserving an opinion for the present.

The sheriff's office here had no doubt, calling the case "solid as the Rock of Gibraltar."

Ray himself told newsmen, after signing the confession:

"I've pleaded guilty, haven't I?"

He said he was willing to take a lie detector test and was happy "to get it off my chest after 14 years."

He said he couldn't explain the stab wound found in the slain girl's abdomen, unless it came from a fishing gig which he said she grabbed during their struggle.

Forty-one members were present at the September meeting of the Adams County Fire Police Association Monday evening in the Kingsdale Fire Hall, along the Littlestown-Taneytown Rd. Charles Culp, president, presided. Movies were shown on fire protection by Houck's Rubber Supply Company, Hanover. It was announced that the Pennsylvania State Association of Fire Police will meet on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in Middletown. Glenn Crouse, Littlestown, secretary, gave his report. At the conclusion of the business, refreshments were served by the Kingsdale firemen.

The next meeting of the County Fire Police will be held on Wednesday, October 13, in McSherrystown. The meeting will not be held on the second Monday of October, the usual date, due to the quarterly meeting of the Adams County Firemen's Association on October 11.

JAP OFFICIAL MAY TESTIFY IN SCANDAL

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's political advisers decided Tuesday that he should obey an unprecedented summons to testify before a Diet committee in connection with a shipbuilding kickback scandal.

The decision was reached at an emergency meeting of government and Liberal party leaders after an opposition-ruled Diet committee Previously the 76-year-old Prime Minister indicated he would ignore the summons even though such action could result in a fine or jail sentence.

A spokesman said Yoshida will make the final decision, but that he "apparently is not unwilling" to appear.

While the committee asked Yoshida to testify tomorrow, his appearance might be postponed since he has an appointment with the Emperor.

Starts Tour Sept. 26

An administration spokesman said Yoshida had no intention of postponing his world tour scheduled to start about Sept. 26.

The Prime Minister is not involved personally in the reports of big kickbacks from shipbuilding companies in return for subsidies and favorable legislation. Some high members of Yoshida's Liberal party have been linked with the scandal, however.

The Summons was issued by the Audit Committee of the House of Representatives, which is controlled by opposition members. One Liberal member voted in favor of the summons and was promptly expelled from the party, a spokesman said.

No Japanese Prime Minister ever has been called as a witness before a standing committee.

Bank Robber Is Sentenced To Pen

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—One of two men who tried unsuccessfully to hold up a bank in Abington last July was sentenced Monday to serve from 6 to 12 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary.

Montgomery County Judge William F. Dannehower passed sentence on Stephen F. Smith of Philadelphia after Smith pleaded guilty.

His alleged accomplice, Earl K. Smith, 25, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is still at large. They are not related. Smith is also being sought in connection with the $125,000 holdup last month of a bank at the Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland.

CONVICT SAYS HE KILLED COED

MCALESTER, Okla. (AP) — The midnight murder of a pretty Penn State coed 14 years ago was announced as solved today with the confession of a life term convict who revealed a bizarre story of illicit love and dope selling on the campus.

Deputy Sheriff Abner Dear of Pittsburgh County, who has been working on the case since he received a tip last March, said today that Jack Ray, 34, signed a full confession relating to the fatal beating of Rachel Taylor March 28, 1940.

Life For Murder

Ray now is serving a life term at the McAlester State Penitentiary for the murder of George Good at Cordell, Okla., after a fight Oct. 6, 1953.

Dear refused to tell how he received the tip other than to say that it came from behind the walls of the prison.

"Ray made the mistake of telling about his crime years ago in Dallas," Dear said.

The deputy sheriff revealed he worked arduously for six months gathering bits of evidence that he said finally fitted together to tie Ray to the murder.

The life termer was confronted with the evidence in the prison Saturday and he signed a 600-word confession Monday, the deputy said.

O'DWYER CALLS SUIT POLITICAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — William O'Dwyer, former Democratic mayor of New York, contends that "political and other ulterior considerations" are back of a $9,699 federal income tax claim against him.

A suit filed on his behalf in the U.S. Tax Court Monday disclosed the Internal Revenue Service has filed a claim for that amount against O'Dwyer and his former wife, Sloan Simpson, for the years of 1949 and 1950.

O'Dwyer's petition, filed by his brother, New York attorney Paul O'Dwyer, contested a government claim that he had understated his income for the two years. It said there had been only an inadvertent omission of $155 in dividends received by the former Mrs. O'Dwyer.

The petition also defended deductions, challenged by the government, which O'Dwyer said were legitimate expenses for furthering Miss Simpson's modeling career and for outlays O'Dwyer made as ambassador to Mexico. He held that post in 1950-52 and still lives in Mexico City.

The province has jurisdiction over some 400 priests and seminarians of the order in 11 eastern U. S. Roman Catholic dioceses.

SELECT MURDER JURY

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—The Luzerne County Court has completed selection of a jury to hear the murder trial of Paul Graver, 42, of Lehighton.

A special session Monday night completed the panel.

The defendant is accused of killing Mrs. Dorothy Casey Gilhool, 42, wife of the operator of a casino at Harvey's Lake where Graver was employed. The state charges he struck Mrs. Gilhool a fatal blow with a blunt instrument in his room at the casino.

WILL REARREST FREED CONVICTS

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Ruling that Mayor Ben West's order to empty the old city jail was a violation of the Nashville charter, City Judge Andrew J. Doyle has ordered the 31 prisoners re-arrested.

The order now probably will be bounced to the city legal department for an opinion. John Milliron, police chief, said he would ask the department what he can do legally after he is presented with the rearrest orders.

Judge Doyle, ruling on a petition by a Nashville housewife, Mrs. E. J. Saverio, said Monday he would issue the orders as soon as the necessary information on the prisoners is obtained from court records.

Mayor West ordered the prisoners eleased last Wednesday afte trhe Davidson County Health Depatment ruled that the city jail and workhouse building were unfit for human habitation.

"If I arrest them, I'll have to have some place to put them," said Milliron and he added if he put them in the county jail several problems would occur, including the housing expense.

The 31 were committed to the workhouse after failure to pay fines imposed by city court. The jail section of the building was used as a holdover for prisoners prior to sentencing.

Counsel For Reds Asks For Acquittal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Thomas D. McBride, chief counsel for nine Communist leaders recently convicted of violations of the Smith Act Monday presented an appeal for acquittal or a new trial to Judge J. Cullen Ganey in U. S. District Court.

The appeal—based on 29 points in the trial—was opposed by U. S. Atty. W. Wilson White. Ganey took the appeal under advisement.

The nine men were convicted of conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

FIRE DAMAGES BARN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Fire swept through a huge barn on the estate of sportsman and philanthrcpist George D. Widener in suburban Erdenheim yesterday.

Three hundred tons of freshly harvested hay caught fire, but a number of thoroughbred horses from Widener's famed racing stable were quartered safely out of danger about a mile away.

Marinate fresh-cooked or canned green beans in a tangy French dressing. Serve on salad greens and top with tissue-paper thin slices of crisp red radish. This relish-salad is delicious with any sliced cold meat.

SMYTH ASSERTS ATOMIC STOCKS CAN STOP ENEMY

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

DENVER (AP)—Dr. Henry D. Smyth resigned from the Atomic Energy Commission today and declared the United States stockpile of hydrogen and atomic bomb assures free world retaliation of "ove whelming power" against any enemy attack.

President Eisenhower "very reluctantly" accepted the resignation of Smyth, who cast the only dissenting vote last June when the commission refused to lift Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer's suspension from access to secret atomic data.

The summer White House announced Eisenhower is naming Willard Frank Libby, 45-year-old University of Chicago atomic scientist, to succeed Smyth on the AEC effective Sept. 30.

In resigning, Smyth wrote Eisenhower:

Deterrents To War

"I hope atomic weapons will continue to act as deterrents to war. But if attack should come, the stockpile we have prepared would assure this country and the free world the capacity to answer with overwhelming power."

Smyth, 56, the only current member of the five-man AEC with a scientific background, has served since President Truman appointed him May 31, 1949, to a term expiring June 30, 1956.

He plans to return to Princeton University, where he was chairman of the physics department and on the faculty from 1924 to 1949.

Smyth's letter to the President made no mention of his dissent in the case of Oppenheimer, who was ruled a security risk by the other four AEC members. Nor did Smyth say anything about differences with Lewis L. Strauss, commission chairman.

On Early Research

Smyth was one of the principal scientists connected with early atomic bomb research. He wrote an 1945 report detailing development of the A-bomb. He has called for worldwide control of atomic weapons and for freer release of atomic information not connected with the bomb.

Libby, picked by Eisenhower to succeed Smyth, is a professor of chemistry at the University of Chicago and is associated with its Institute for Nuclear Studies. His home is in Chicago. He is a native of Grand Valley, Colo.

Libby's recess appointment is subject to Senate confirmation after Congress reconvenes in January.

RAINS RECOVER LOSS IN CROPS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Heavy August rain helped Pennsylvania farmers recover about three-fourths of the 17 million dollar damage suffered during the June and July drought, the State Agriculture Department estimated today.

New department surveys in cooperation with federal authorities showed "remarkable production gains" in corn, tomatoes, hay and potatoes.

Southern Pennsylvania received six or more inches of rain during the month while in the southwest corner of the state rainfall amounted to 10 inches. Rainfall in most northern counties was light causing pastures to remain poor and hindering corn, potato and new seeding development.

"When calculated at current prices the total recovery as of Sept. 1 was about 13½ millions," the survey found.

However, the damage caused by dry weather to early sweet corn and many other vegetables, placed at 3 millions on Aug. 1, still represents a heavy loss to the Pennsylvania farmer, the department added.

Arrest Laborer In Fatal Accident

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 34-year-old laborer was arrested last night in the hit-run death of a 15-year-old boy last Sunday.

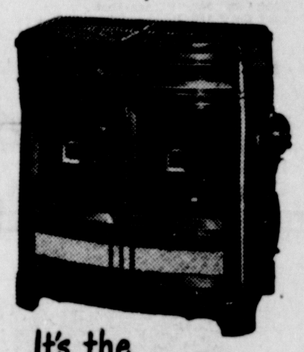

Police said the man, Willie Green, alias John H. Chestine, admitted driving the car that struck Joseph P. Ralston and carried the youth 100 feet on its hood before dropping him to the street.

He was charged with manslaughter by automobile, failure to stop and render assistance, and failure to stop and identify himself.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Movie starlet Ruth Hampton and actor Byron Palmer announced yesterday they plan to be married within the next two months.

Palmer is the son of Harlan Palmer, publisher of the Hollywood Citizen-News. Miss Hampton, formerly of Merchantville, N.J., was Miss New Jersey in the first Miss Universe contest in 1952.

NEW TYPE OF RUSSIAN IS 'CARRYING BALL'

By TOM REEDY

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP) — A smart, new type of Russian is carrying the ball for Moscow in East Germany these days. He's in evidence in the Soviet headquarters in Berlin and he showed up in force for the Leipzig Fair to handle the East bloc's drive for trade.

The is apparently the graduating class of a system now 37 years old. Konstantin Pavlov, barely out of swaddling clothes when the Czar fell, sets the pace for the Leipzig business campaign. Pavlov has his men working morning, noon and night. They speak all necessary languages and unlike the Russian of past years in Germany, they never bother to try to sell a Westerner on the merits of communism. They're busy extolling the merits of a drill press or expressing a readiness to trade with anybody.

Different Type

Pavlov has another staff with yet another task — language-wise men usually in their 20s. These are assigned to visiting delegations, particularly the "workers' groups" of Communists from foreign countries who are constantly being brought to East Germany, all expenses paid. Squired by the Russian salesmen, these groups sit around the cafes and bars night after night, eating and drinking all they wish and singing Russian songs.

This brand of Russian is far different from the Stalin era type. He always wears a necktie. He seldom wears a hat and he never wears the trench coat once the badge of every secret police operative.

The young men drink seldom and then in moderation. They haven't any fear of talking to a Westerner, and one young interpreter said that's because they have been trained for just such a job. Together with the broad German back and capacity for work, they make a tough combination. This "occupation" of East Germany is more deeply embedded, perhaps, than outright occupation by troops ever could be.

T. O. M'QUISTON TO HEAD PEA

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Theodore O. McQuiston of Reading heads the Pennsylvania Electric Assn. for the coming year.

He was elected yesterday at the group's 47th annual meeting to succeed John M. Orr of Pittsburgh.

Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel Corp., told the convention in a speech that now is the time for this country to prove it doesn't need war for prosperity.

He said:

"Now that we have peace—uneasy as that peace may be—we are continuously adjusting our operations to an economy based more on civilian needs.

"There are those who hold that this would mean a depression. Some used the milder term 'Recession.' But we chose a different word—and a mental attitude to match it."

Fairless said the word is "opportunity"—to prove that private enterprise, minus big government, is the only formula for economic health.

Pennsylvania Electric Co. won first prize for safety for firms which average 2½ million manhours or more a year. Second was Duquesne Light & Power Co. West Penn Power Co. placed third.

In the Group 2 class, for firms using fewer manhours than 2½ million, Northern Pennsylvania Power Co. of Towanda was first. Also honored were Natrona Light and Power Co. and the Home Electric Co. of Altoona.

Other officers elected were: Orville E. Flora of New Castle, first vice president; Robert P. Liversidge, Philadelphia, second vice president; and Joseph O. Chambers, Pittsburgh, third vice president.

Although the Gregorian calendar is used officially in China, the people often follow the ancient calendar under which the new year falls at varying times between January 20 and February 19.

THE BEST OF BROADWAY

A Message From The President Of Gettysburg College

SUMMER is once more on the wane, and Gettysburg is ready to welcome back the twelve hundred members of our College Family for another year of "liberal education." And perhaps this is as good a time and place as any to say a word about what we mean by that often used but generally vaguely understood phrase "liberal education."

In its true and historical sense, rather than in the mumbo-jumbo of modern politics, liberal is defined in the dictionary as "befitting or worthy of a free man, appropriate or fitting for a broad and enlightened mind, of a nature or character befitting freedom by birth." Surely the education that is "liberal" in the sense of these definitions is the ideal education for the best of our youth in the United States. For those who have the background to benefit from it and the interest, time, and resources to receive it, this education should certainly precede any narrow technical specialization that may later be necessary from the viewpoint of career.

Practically, this liberal education as offered by Gettysburg aims at providing the students, in an atmosphere of Faith and Patriotism, with a knowledge of and love for the enduring cultural contributions of earlier generations. Always the goal is to help the young man and young woman become alert to progress while yet maintaining a high regard for fine conservative tradition—and ever to recognize the priority of stable spiritual over transitory material values.

With the help of Our Lord, the devotion of a loyal Faculty, the supporting interest of a friendly community, and the receptiveness of the student body, this noble goal can be achieved—to the greater benefit of mankind and the greater glory of God.

Dean Wilbur E. Tilberg Begins Last Year In Office; Retires Next July

Came Here 27 Years Ago From Midwest; Has Taken Active Role In Gettysburg Community Life

Twenty-seven years ago the present of dean of Gettysburg College was starting upon a career that was to span one of the most progressive eras in the college's history and today Dean Wilbur Emanuel Tilberg prepared to begin his 28th and last year as a member of the college administrative family.

Coming here after a spring conference in Chicago with Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, Dean Tilberg had a background of teaching and college administrative work in the midwest.

Retirement Is Automatic

Now the jovial, hard-working dean who will reach his 70th birthday anniversary in December, although he could pass for a man two decades younger anywhere but in the Bureau of Vital Statistics, is preparing for retirement from office at the end of the 1954-55 college year.

The retirement move is automatic under college regulations set by the board of trustees a number of years ago.

One of the members of the college staff who are best known by the community of Gettysburg and Adams County for their interest and activity in community affairs, Dean Tilberg has long taken a role of leadership in off-the-campus activities in the field of community service, church work, Boy Scouts and emergency services here during World Wor II.

To Continue To Live Here

Dean and Mrs. Tilberg plan to continue to live in Gettysburg after his retirement next July 1.

"We've lived here too long to think of leaving now," the dean told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times. "There just isn't any other place we'd rather live than right here."

The energetic dean, used to a busy life, jam-packed wth college duties, speaking engagements over a wide radius and calls upon him by this community for roles of leadership in many progressive undertakings, has no intention of rocking out his remaining years on the back porch.

Opportunities Opening

There are opportunities for new fields of service opening for next year but the Dean is in no hurry to make a decision about what field of activity may take first call on his time after he leaves his desk in Glatfelter Hall.

One thing he's fairly certain about, it must be work that will leave more evenings free and not take him too often from his W. Lincoln Ave. home.

The year of 1927 when Dean Tilberg assumed his new post of dean of the college was a notable one in many respects.

The college was entering its 96th year and plans were being formulated—in which the dean had an important role—for the observance of the centennial in 1932.

Other "Firsts" That Year

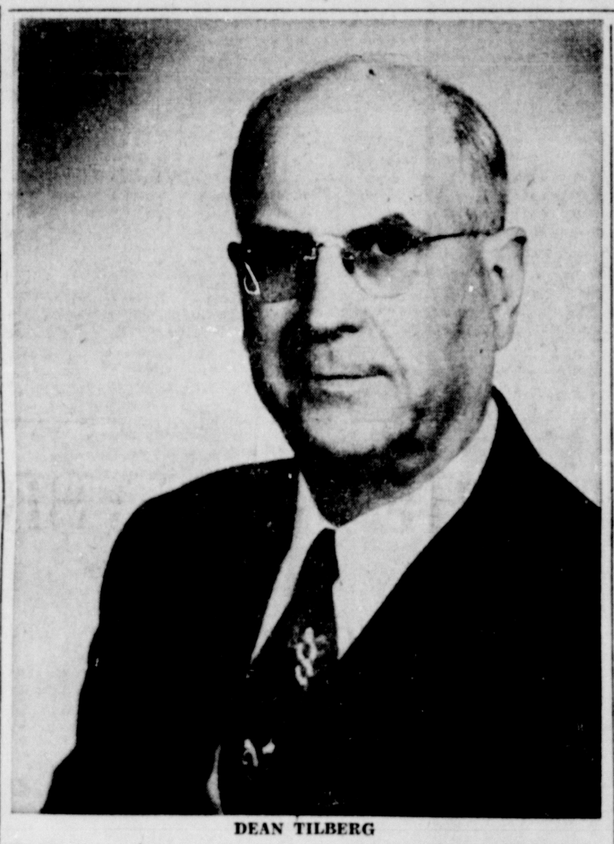

Henry T. Bream was starting his career as head football coach with "Haps" Frank as his assistant and C. E. Bilheimer moved here from York with his wife to become the director of athletics at the college.

That was the year in which the now traditional Orientation Week opened for 240 members of the Freshman Class. The college had an enrollment that fall of 670.

The Eddie Plank Memorial Gymnasium had just been dedicated and work on that building and on the Breidenbaugh Science Hall was being completed. The old chemistry lab building near the present enlarged SCA building was being torn down and materials from it were to go into the new home for Dean and Mrs. Tilberg and their young son, Cedric, on W. Lincoln Ave. The house is the one now occupied by Dr. and Mrs. William Sundermyer and family.

Has Seen Many Changes

Later the Tilberg's moved one block east on the same street and occupied the former J. W. McIlhenny home where they lived for 15 years before buying their present home at 67 W. Lincoln Ave.

DEAN TILBERG

In the early years of Dean Tilberg's service at the college, old Cottage Hall was razed to make way for the library building and the book store building, Hanson Hall, renovation of Brua Chapel as the fine arts building and the new chapel followed.

Gettysburg Academy was still in operation but a few years later it closed and Huber and Stevens Halls housed the newly instituted Women's Division of the college with the late Dr. Charles H. Huber as its director.

Believes In Co-education

Dr. Tilberg believes co-education is sound and that Gettysburg acted wisely in admitting women students again after they had been barred for several years in the early thirties when the college lacked facilities for them.

"Co-education seems a more natural plan. It's the type of experience most of the students have been accustomed to in high schools and the presence of women students has proved of great benefit to the college in more ways than one," the dean said.

The closing of the academy brought Charles R. "Hips" Wolfe, a football coach and instructor at the academy, to the college as instructor in English and in 1943 when the late Prof. Clyde B. Stover retired, he became the college's first full-time registrar.

E. E. Ziegler, another addition to the college staff from the academy faculty, joined the mathematics department.

Being dean has been a full-time job for Dean Tilberg and only during the war emergency did he take on some teaching duties. He taught a course in history to air cadets assigned to the college for training during World War II.

The Dean is enthusiastic about ex-servicemen now as students—"and we've had as many as 900 of them at a time," he said. "Our experience with them has been very good. Wtih few exceptions, those fellows really work. They're in college because they want to be and they seem to know how to get the most out of their courses."

Once Was Grid Coach

When the Dean came to Gettysburg as successor to the late Dean of Men Jerome C. Jackson who had died suddenly early in 1927, he had about 14 years as teacher and part-time dean—and for a time had coached football in Kansas.

Educated In Kansas

Dean Tilberg was born in Kossuth, Iowa, December 13, 1884, where his father, Carl Oscar Tilberg, was a farmer. Both his father and his mother, Carolina A. (Norrbom) Tilberg, are now deceased.

He received his early education in the public schools of Dwight, Kansas, and in 1907 was graduated from Bethany Academy at Lindsborg, Kansas.

He and his future wife, Vitalia Nelson, were graduated in 1911 from Bethany College in the same town in 1911 with the degree of bachelor of arts. The next year the dean received the degree of Master of Arts from the University of Kansas at Lawrence with a major in history.

Entered Teaching Career

He had gone to the university on a scholarship which was awarded through the faculty of his alma mater, Bethany.

Then he taught history for one year in the high school at Okmulgee, Oklahoma, and in September, 1913, entered upon his college teaching career at Midland College at Atchison, Kans. In 1919, the college moved to Fremont, Nebraska, and the Dean moved with it.

Resigning his position as dean and professor of history at Midland College in June, 1925, in order to complete his work for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, he was completing that work at the University of Wisconsin with a major in American History when the call to Gettysburg came. He received his Ph.D. in 1928. Only some work on the thesis for his doctorate remained to be done when he came to Gettysburg in September, 1927.

This attractive approach to the Gettysburg College campus greets visitors approaching from the south on N. Washington St. The large sign identifying the college, was erected several years ago after a dwelling house was removed from this section and the area landscaped.

Is Leader In Community

Over the years, Dean Tilberg has been interested in many community activities and in general church work in many capacities.

One of his chief "extra-curricular" interests has been the Boy Scout organization. For years he has been active in the York-Adams Area of the Boy Scouts of America and served for a number of years as president of the York-Adams Area council and as president of the Black Walnut (Adams County) district. He continues as a member of the Executive Board.

Headed USO, Book Drives

During the war, and since that time, too, he was Adams County chairman for the USO and was at the head of the county's Victory Book Campaign.

Four years after he came to Gettysburg he was elected president of the Gettysburg Lions Club and a few years later reached the peak of his amateur stage career in the role of "Wilbur" in the Lions' play, "Three Men on a Horse."

It was before the Gettysburg Lions that Dean Tilberg made his first public appearance here on September 12, 1927. He addressed the Lions, less than two weeks after his arrival in the community, on "The Nation's Historic Landmarks" at a meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg.

Active Churchman

The Gettysburg Times, in reporting that speech said: "With an easy fluent delivery and his pleasing personalty, the new dean of the college made a favorable impression."

In Nebraska, the dean had been president of the Nebraska Lutheran Brotherhood and when he came to Gettysburg he continued to play an important role on the affairs of the United Lutheran Church as a layman. Locally he has been on the Christ Lutheran Church Council and general superintendent of its Sunday School.

For some time he has been a member of the Executive Board of the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the ULCA and for 12 years served on the Parish and Church School Board of the ULCA at Philadelphia.

Helped Set Up Community Chest

Professionally he is a charter member of the Eastern Association of Deans and Advisers of Men and has served as its president. He is a member of the Pennsylvania State Education, Kappa Phi Kappa, Tau Kappa Alpha, Phi Alpha Theta, education, forensic and history honorary groups.

He had a hand in the founding of the Adams County Free Library and was chairman of the steering committee that laid the groundwork for the organization of the Gettysburg Community Chest a half dozen years ago.

During Dean Tilber's administration, his only son, Cedric, went through Gettysburg College and the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary and is now pastor of the First Lutheran Church in Altoona, Pa.

"College Has Great Future"

Dean Tilberg does not regard his years at the dean's desk here, usually behind the scenes excepting on such special occasions as commencement when he presents seniors with their diplomas, as sensational. "I've just been plodding along, handling problems as they come along, watching the college grow and giving a helpful hand when I can.

"Of one thing I am very sure, Gettysburg College has a great future. Over the years, the college has developed slowly but solidly into a very fine institution. The time is now ripe for it to take its place among the great small colleges of the nation.

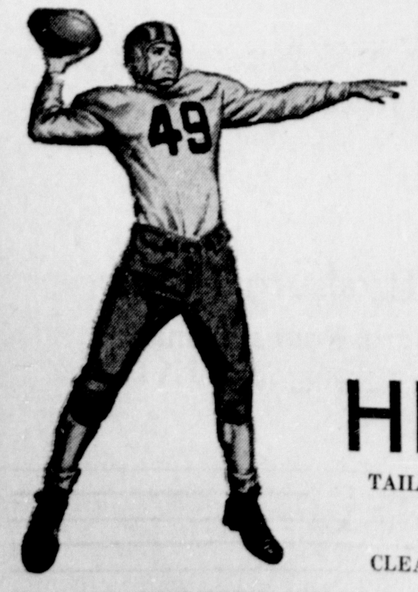

"We have a good plant, our faculty grows stronger year after year and the quality of our student body is constantly improving. We now accept only those applicants who graduate in the upper half of their respective high school classes or who prove through entrance examinations that they are qualified to do good college work. With this as a background and with careful attention to our classroom work I see no reason why Gettysburg College should not have a very bright future."

Dr. Franklin Menges, Gettysburg Grad In '86; Is Oldest Living ATO; Was Congressman, Professor, Chemist, Lecturer, Author, Farmer

Dr. Franklin Menges, graduate of Gettysburg College in 1886, later a member of its faculty and former congressman from the York-Adams district, is the subject of a feature article in the September issue of The Palm, national publication of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity which he once helped to edit.

Hailed as ATO's "grand old man," Dr. Menges, now the oldest living ATO, was interviewed recently by Merl L. Gulick, AP reporter in Washington and writer for the Palm staff, at his home in Arlington, Va., where he has lived in "active retirement" since 1947.

Gulick's article introduces Dr. Menges as "college professor, soil expert, author, farmer, congressman and now a hale and hearty 95, he is Alpha Tau Omega's grand old man."

Dr. and Mrs Menges celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Arlington in 1947. They were married here on Dr. Menge's 39th birthday anniversary, October 26, 1897. Mrs. Manges is the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Armsrtong McIlhenny, of Gettysburg. Mrs. David G. Lott, E. High St., and Miss Ruth A. McIlhenny, of the Gettysburg High School faculty, are sisters of Mrs. Menges.

To Be Honor Guest

Dr. Menges will be a guest of honor of the Alpha Upsilon chapter of Gettysburg College next month when ground is broken for the new chapter house on the college campus.

Gulick's article follows in part:

"Franklin Menges can tell you about being a scientist, farmer, educator or church leader. Or he can inform you on what life's like as a politician, government official, author or lecturer. For he's ha a fling at all these pursuits—and been pretty successful at all of them, too.

Soon 96; Looks 69

"The fraternity's oldest alumnus will be 96 on October 26 but without the record you'd swear the figure shouldn't be over 69. He sports a goodly thatch of iron brown—not white—hair, twinkling eyes that use glasses for reading but can do without, ears adept at catching a comment on world affairs or a good joke. He can tell you what went on a half year or a half century ago, and with the memory he's got a mind that many a cramming Brother would like to borrow, say, through exam time.

"His main concession to a body not so nimble these days is a cane which helps him get around his comfortable, white brick house and lawn at 1217 S. Oakcrest Rd., Arlington, Va., a suburb of Washington, D. C. This is where he's lived with wife and daughter since his retirement seven years ago.

"That doesn't mean he's shut off from current events. On the Sunday before his 59th birthday last October, he spoke before a capacity audience in the Reformation Lutheran Church, Washington, D. C.

Chatted With Ike

"Not long ago he chatted with a 'nice fellow'—President Eisenhower. He keeps up to date with TV, newspapers and a host of periodicals on public affairs, science, religion and what-have-you. So when you ask Dr. Menges about a headline topic, you'll get a ready answer.

"What about Joe McCarthy, for instance? Well communism's a bad thing all right, he said, but the way McCarthy's going at it is hurting the country and violating some fundamental religious teachings. Menges is a staunch Lutheran. He is also a 'different sort' from a midwestern or Wisconsin Republican—'I'm an old Pennsylvania Dutch Republican,' he says.

"Should the United States go into Indochina? No. 'Help arm the Asians but let them defend themselves. What good did Korea do? I think we might have won there if we'd let MacArthur go ahead the way he wanted to, but we didn't, and look what happened. I think we ought to arm the Japanese and Germans too. Then we could come home.'

Knew Grant, Taft

"How does he like the Eisenhower administration? 'Oh, all right, I guess, under the circumstances. Eisenhower probably knows more than anybody else how to handle our European foreign policy and military problems. But I would rather have seen Taft in there. I was a Taft man myself.'

"Dr Menges happened to be talking about the late Robert A. Taft, but it could just as well have been the father, former President William Howard Taft, whom Menges knew as a friend while Taft was still a Supreme Court justice. Menges also met President Ulysses S. Grant, served ATO with Founder Otis Allan Glazenbrook, heard the rumble of guns at Gettysburg and brushed again many other figures and events that adorn the pages of history books.

"Here's his story:

"Menges' great-great-grandfather took the long boat ride from Holland two centuries ago, landed in Philadelphia, swore the customary oath of allegiance to the British crown, fought against the crown as a soldier in the Revolution, and meanwhile set out to build his fortunes in the agricultural county of York in southcentral Pennsylvania. Today the small community of Menges Mills still stands, about 17 miles from Gettysburg, with the mill still in family hands

Was On High ATO Council

"Franklin Menges was born at Menges Mills October 26, 1858. He got his early education at the little country school house that formed the background of the public school system of that time, then went to Baugher Academy prep school at Hanover and when he entered Gettyburg College in 1884 it was as a junior.

"Only two years previously N. Wiley Thomas, tehn a professor of chemistry at Girard College had founded Alpha Upsilon Chapter at Gettysburg College. Menges joined the fledgling fraternity and took an active part in ATO doings for the next dozen years. He helped edit The Palm for a while in 1887, traveled to several ATO Congresses and served in the ATO High Council in 1892-94. One of the members of the Council then was Founder Glazebrook, whom Dr. Menges remembers as 'a truly splendid leader.'

When Menges was a Gettysburg student he was the only user in his class of the college's science lab. When he got his diploma, therefore, it was only natural that the school would ask him to stay on as a teacher. He did.

Taught In York High

"The next decade was a busy one for the young professor. He studied the many geological formations around the historic battlefield area, showing their feet on what kind of vegetation could best be grown there. That earned him a Gettysburg Ph.D. in 1888 in chemistry, mineragogy and geology. The number of science lab students swelled to over 100 at the college. He spoke frequently before farm groups. And of course, he was getting in his licks for Alpha Tau, both locally and nationally.

"He resigned from the college faculty in 1896. In 1927, his alma mater conferred on him an honorary Doctor of Science degree.

"Farmers tried to nominate him as a Republican candidate for Congress in 1896 but that didn't pan out. Then he became a science teacher in the York high school.

Lecturer, Author, Chemist

"In 1897, he married May McIlhenny, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William A. McIlhenny of Gettysburg. She was a school teacher he met while he had been on the college faculty.

"Dr. Menges remembers his half dozen years of high school teaching as a 'little interim' during which he devoted a great deal of outside effort toward improving the level of agriculture in Pennsylvania and elsewhere. That interest led to his affiliation with the Farmers' Institute of Pennsylania.

"For the next 18 years the Gettysburg grad kept his connection with the state as lecturer, author, chemist and soil investigator. He traveled north and south and west as far as South Dakota. He wrote an authoritative two-volume work on crop adaptation—The Soils of Pennsylvania—published in 1914.

Candidate On A Mule

"Then about 1916, the state agriculture board got caught in the swirl of politics and was shuffled out of existance. Once again Menges was without a job. This time he had someplace to go—a 220-acre farm he had bought near York four years earlier.

"Years later on a cold March morning in 1924, Dr. Menges mounted a mule to ride out to the mailbox along the main road passing his farm, as was his custom. Just then a black limousine pulled up. A passenger in a rear seat pulled back a curtain and asked: 'Do you know where Dr. Menges lives?'

"'He's sitting right here on this mule,' was the surprise answer, but the man astride the 'Democratic' animal was even more surprised at the next remark: 'We want you to be our Republican candidate for Congress.'

To Congress At 66

"The limousine occupants, it turned out, were the local GOP bosses. Menges objected that he didn't always see eye to eye with the leaders and didn't have the money for a campaign. They said that was all right, all they wanted him to do was accept the nomination. After checking with Mrs. Menges, the future congressman agreed. A few months later he was elected by a thumping majority and at the age of 66 he was off to Congress for his freshman term in the House of Representatives.

"He found life in the capital interesting and exciting but busy and full of new responsibilities. One of his notable speeches in the House was one telling his colleagues some early American history: that the Continental Congress, pressed by the same British victories which drove General Washington to a harsh winter at Valley Forge, had moved its sessions to York in 1777-1778. Copies of that speech were widely circulated.

"But more of his energies went into the immediate problem of helping farmers, already beset by depression problems while the boom of the '20's was still in full swing in other segments of the economy. Appropriately for his qualifications but unusual for a newcomer to the House, Menges gained a seat on the important Agriculture Committee. There his big fight was in behalf of the McNary-Haugem Bill. Most members seemed favorably disposed to the measure, which was opposed by industrial interests and finally blocked by the White House—first by Coolidge and then by Hoover.

"Menges explained his position on the matter by saying, 'I'm a protectionist, and I want protection that will benefit all the people equally—therefore if industry wants a high tariff, let's have it for agriculture too.'

Tribute From Colleagues

"When the Pennsylvania Dutchman was retired from Congress in 1931, he received a scroll of thanks from his Agriculture Committee colleagues signed by every member, Republican and Democrat.

"Dr. Menges went back to the farm and stayed there until 1947. Then he sold out at a good price and moved to Arlington where he now lives with his wife and youngest daughter, Frances L. Menges, who works in the Library of Congress. Another daughter is Mrs. Richard Schwartz of Derwood, Md.

"A third daughter, Janet, married an ATO, the Rev. Phillips Packer Elliott, class of 1922 at University of Michigan and now minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn, N.Y. A fourth daughter, Jessie, died in childhood."

College Is Rated High

Gettysburg College is on the accreditation lists of the Association of College and Secondary Schools of the Middle States and Maryland, the Board of Regents of the State of New York, the Department of Public Instruction of Pennsylvania, and others. It is a member of the National Commission on Accrediation.

Approval by the American Medical Association and the American Association of University Women, membership in Phi Beta Kappa and in the American Chemical Society, and approval by other similar organizations are additional indications of good standing.

This rating means that credits granted by Gettysburg College are accepted at face value by other colleges, universities, and graduate and professional schools.

ATO Breaks Ground For New Chapter House On Campus; Cornerstone Laying Set For 23rd Of October With Oldest Alumnus As Speaker

Ground has been broken for the $100,000 new chapter house to be erected by Pennsylvania Alpha Upsilon Chapter of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity at Gettysburg College and the cornerstone laying, set for October 23, Alumni Day, will be a highlight on the fraternity's fall calendar.

The big, new red brick and stone chapter house will provide rooms for nearly three times the number quartered in the present house on N. Washington St. and it will conform to the colonial architecture of other campus landmarks.

Oldest ATO To Speak

The new house is being erected by Edward Florence and Sons of Waynesboro on the southern end of the campus, between the Tiber and the Phi Gamma Delta house and the Fine Arts building. L. DeForest Emmert, Philadelphia, is the architect.

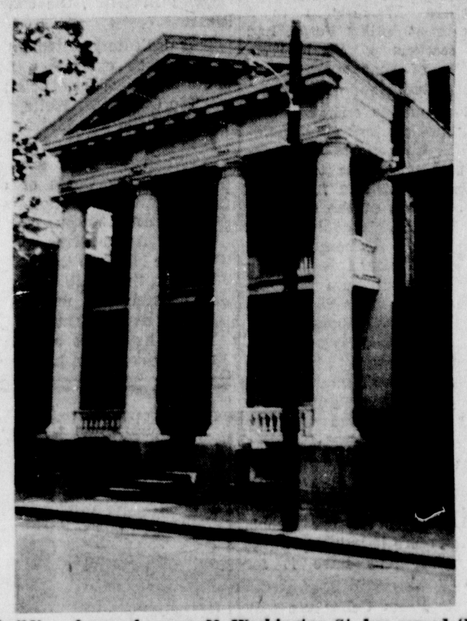

Completion is tentatively set for the end of the college year and it will go into use next September.

Dedication arrangements belong to the future but plans for the cornerstone laying are being directed by Col. George Barten of Washington, D. C.

Dr. Franklin Menges, Arlington, Va., oldest living ATO, will be a guest of honor and will be the speaker for the cornerstone laying program.

Officials To Gather

Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, head of the department of history at Gettysburg College, who was elected worthy grand chaplain at the ATO convention in Atlanta, Ga., on September 4, and other national officers are expected to be here for the cornerstone laying that will bring ATO chapter representatives from colleges and universities in this area.

The building shown above on N. Washington St. has served the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity as chapter house since it was built in 1915 on the foundations of a previous building totally destroyed by fire in 1914. The site for the new $100,000 chapter house lies directly across the street, south of the former Brua Chapel. (Gettysburg Times photo)

Dr. Fortenbaugh will be installed that evening at a formal meeting.

Dr. C. L. S. Raby, associate for development, of the college, for many years a member of the High Council of the ATO and now its national ritual counselor, new its national ritual chancellor, has been advising the chapter on its building and its plans for the cornerstone ceremony.

To Sell Present House

The cornerstone itself will be the cornerstone of the present chapter house. That building was erected in 1915 on the foundation of the one that was destroyed by fire in February, 1914. The present chapter house has been offered for sale.

The new house will provide sleeping quarters for 24 boys in 12 second floor bedrooms. On the first floor will be the dining and social halls and the house mother's quarters. On the ground floor will be the chapter chapel and game rooms.

The exterior will be of brick with a stucco center front. Part of the brick work will be stone-faced. The building itself is expected to cost $88,000 without furnishings.

Dates Back 72 Years

Heading the Building Committee is William Snyder of Hanover and the group includes Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, Clyde Gerberich Jr.; and Luther Ritter, Littlestown, the latter also being chairman of the chapter's board of trustees.

The history of ATO, one of the largest of men's national Greek letter social fraternities, dates back to 1882 at Gettysburg.

Alpha Tau Omega had been founded at Richmond, Va., on September 11, 1865, by three Confederate veterans who were then students at the Virginia Military Institute. They desired to contribute to the return of good feeling among the people of the North and South through the organization of a national fraternal society.

At Golden Anniversary

The dream of the founders, Otis A. Glazebrook, Alfred Marshall and Erskine M. Ross, to expand into the North was delayed but expansion in the South was realized in that by 1881 20 chapters had been established in as many southern institutions. In that same year a chapter was organized in the University of Pennsylvania and the ideal of the founders was in process of being realized.

Realization of that dream of the ATO founders was made possible through the active interest of a member of the Gettysburg chapter of Phi Kappa Psi—Edgar Fahs Smith, class of 1874. Deploring the sectional prejudice that prevented Apha Tau Omega from becoming fully national, he offered to pledge a suitable nucleus for a chapter in the University of Pennsylvania. He selected N. Wiley Thomas who was quickly initiated and who within two years established six Northern chapters. Since that time the expansion of Alpha Tau Omega into all sections of the United States has been free and notable—and has enabled it to become one of the largest social fraternities.

In June, 1882, Pennsylvania College at Gettysburg was celebrating its semicentennial. During that busy season Thomas came to Gettysburg seeking an opportunity to add yet another chapter to the fraternity whose northern interests he had been so successfully promoting.

First Chapter Meeting

He had been directed to Gettysburg by Edgar Fahs Smith, who suggested that he confer with the latter's brother, Allen J. Smith, '83, a member of the local chapter of Phi Kappa Psi.

Smith called into conference C. R. Trowbridge, '82, a member of the local chapter of Sigma Chi, and these two recommended to Thomas that he approach Charles Witmer Baker, '83, with his proposition. Thomas did so and Baker showed interest, agreeing to accept the invitation to be the nucleus of a chapter if Thomas would secure the consent of his friend, Lewis DeWitt Gerhardt, '85. Gerhardt agreed to come in but had a pressing engagement that was to take him from the campus for a short time. Thomas in the meantime initiated Baker in Room 54, Old Dorm, and upon Gerhardt's return Baker initiated him in the presence of Thomas. It is hoped that Gerhardt will be here for the cornerstone laying on October 23.

When the college re-opened for the fall term, activity was immediately begun and the first regular meeting of the chapter was held Sept. 9, 1882, in Room 34 of Old Dorm.

Three Members, All Officers

By this time there were three members and all were officers. Activity for increase in numbers went on and by the end of the fall term, the first seven men invited had been initiated, giving the chapter a total of 10 members. Of these there were only three that did not attend the national congress of the fraternity in Washington, D. C., in December, 1882. This was the first evidence of a very active interest in the affairs of the national fraternity which the chapter was to show especially in its early years.

In October, 1882, the rooms in the former Hollebaugh Bldg. in the first block of Baltimore St., which the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity was about to vacate, were rented and Alpha Upsilon purchased the furniture from the Phi Psis for $75.

The chapter launched forth on an active career, especially in the service of the national fraternity. The Gettysburg chapter was appointed to compile the first fraternity songbook and that assignment was completed in a satisfactory manner. It was also charged with the managing and editing of The Palm, the national fraternity's magazine, which it continued to carry on from 1882 to 1888, C. W. Baker being first business manager and then editor.

First Chapter House In '04

At about the same time the chapter was delegated to attend to the re-issue of the secret work in cipher. At the convention in 1882, C. W. Baker was elected a member of the High Council, the national executive agency, an honor which has since come to a number of other members of the local chapter. He served on the council until 1886 when he was elected Worthy Grand Chaplain. During his term on the High Council he established the chapter at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

After a number of years of occupancy of the original quarters, the chapter moved to more commodious rooms in the Star and Sentinel Building. In 1904 it began the erection of a chapter house on N. Washington St., opposite Brua Chapel.

Have Initiated 599

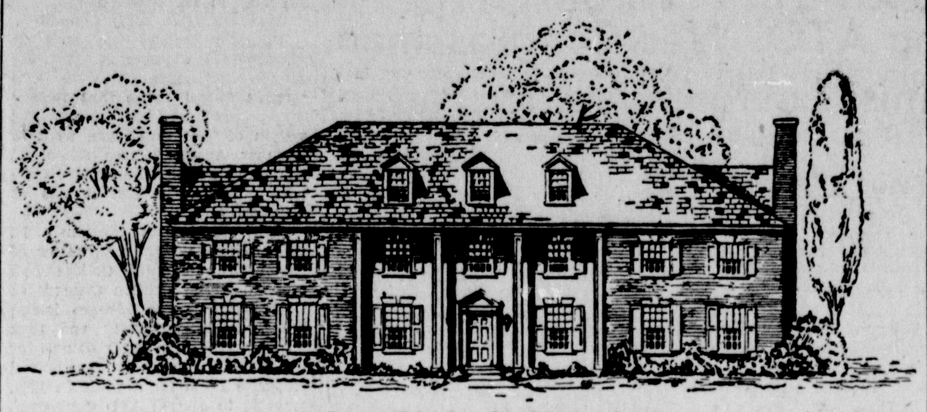

This building which was valued at $6,000 was totally destroyed by fire on February 22, 1914, and in 1915 the present house was dedicated on the same foundation. This building which originally represented an investment of $20,000 has been extensively remodeled on several occasions.

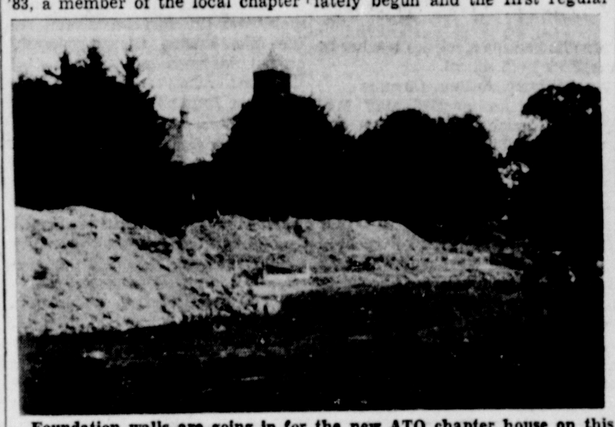

The total number of initiated to date is 599. The alumni body contains a number of well-known representatives in many vocations and professions. Aside from the activity in the work of the general fraternity in the earlier days, the chapter has three times furnished Chiefs of the Province for the fraternity.

The chapter has been active in forming chapters at Penn State, Johns Hopkins, University of Maryland and American University.

The present active membership is 26. Ed Thomas is the chapter president and faculty advisers include Dr. Fortenbaugh, Dr. John B. Zinn and Dean of Men Robert Fryling.

Architect's Drawing Of New ATO House

Foundation walls are going in for the new ATO chapter house on this site south of the Arts and Music Building, formerly Brua Chapel, which can be seen in the background. Ground was broken late in August and work is progressing rapidly in preparation for the laying of the cornerstone of the new $100,000 brick and stone-faced structure. This picture was taken from a point south of the new building site, looking northeast. (Gettysburg Times photo)

Here's a new kind of crouton: Melt a little butter or margarine in a heavy skillet over low heat; add some bite-sized shredded rice or wheat biscuits and a sprinkling of salt. Stir the tiny biscuits over low heat for several minutes to toast and coat with butter. Sprinkle over bowls of tomato or split pea soup for something good.

Crew Of 20 Men Maintains Gettysburg College Campus Now Valued At $6,000,000

NELSON J. GROFT

Not all the wizardry at Gettysburg College is in the hands of the Ph.D.'s in classrooms and laboratories. Every day small miracles are performed by Nelson J. Groft, superintendent of buildings and grounds, and his staff of approximately twenty men.

Beginning his third year at Gettysburg, Groft and his craftsmen are in charge of maintenance for the 35 buildings and 100 acres that form the college campus. Day to day jobs in the maintenance crew run from barbering campus turf to such operations as the complete renovation of Buehler Hall, the new girls' dormitory being readied at the old VFW headquarters on Carlisle St.

During the past two years Groft and his colleagues have completely reseeded, landscaped, and reconditioned 20 acres of campus soil. With their help and under the direct supervision of Groft Old Dorm has been completely rewired and equipped with new fixtures. Classrooms have also been built in the basement of Christ Church. Brua Hall has been thoroughly waterproofed, and shower facilities have been constructed for the girls in the gymnasium.

Major Repairs

At the barracks, maintenance men have completely checked and repaired the underpinnings and repainted the structures. Stevens, Huber, Hanson and McKnight Halls have also had major repairs of one sort or another. A new boiler plant, taking care of seven buildings, has been installed to cut the load of present facilities. An automatic oil fired unit is the last word in heating.

Athleticwise Groft and his crew finished off the new baseball diamond, erected the football scoreboard, and nurtured the turf on the college gridiron.

Groft's crew consists of the following men: cabinet shop, Don McSherry and Lawrence Fidler; painters, Charles Kerrigan and Earl Steinour; grounds, Erle Deardorff, Bernie Cole, Mark Kemper, Bobby Dillman; janitors, Joe Carver, Charles Cook, Bernard Ditzler, William King, Albert Lawver, Art Kelly, Robert Michael, and A. O. Martin; firemen, Ed Luckenbaugh and Bob Mitz; plumber, E. J. Warner. In addition there are about 6 women employes who work part time in the girls' dormitories, and extras who help out in the summer.

Headquarters for the maintenance crew is in the comparatively new concrete block rooms under the stands on Memorial Stadium. There Groft houses materials necessary for emergency repairs to plumbing, heating, lighting, etc. There also Don McSherry has enough back cabinet work on chairs, furniture, etc., to keep him busy the rest of his life.

To expedite maintenance Groft has two trucks and a station wagon, 3 large power mowers, a 5-gang mower, two tractors and innumerable smaller pieces of equipment. Somehow with this almost anything can be done at Gettysburg College at a minute's notice. Last year prior to the Dickinson football game, the crew that had carefully built up the gridiron turf was hard at work with dozers shunting the heavy snow to the sidelines. In the spring they were back repairing the damages done by tractors and footballers in the fall.

Collegians are great woodcarvers and Don McSherry and Lawrence Fidler spend a good deal of the summer removing "doodles" of all sorts engraved during lecture hours. If they could find some way of preserving the desk art work, they'd probably have the best collection of college notes, drawings, and phone numbers at the college. But like their work with the grass and the snow, they must sand off the surfaces so that the college caricaturists can carve on a clean, smooth surface.

Gettysburg College properties are valued at approximately $6,000,000 and maintenance expenses run annually to $165,000. Dormitory occupancy is as follows: Stevens Hall, 35 students; Huber Hall, 70; Hanson Hall, 100; Old Dorm, 140; McKnight, 50, and the new Buehler Hall, 38. In addition there are approximately 150 students in the barracks.

If you are planning to buy an automatic washer, make sure it will operate well on the water pressure available. Several types of washers must have a pressure of at least 20 pounds to operate properly; others will operate though the pressure is as low as 10 pounds.

All except one state requires that applicants for drivers licenses have their eyes examined.

M. Sgt. Warrington Vet Of 13 Years

Master Sergeant Dan Jefferson Warrington, with the Air Force ROTC at Gettysburg College, will complete 13 years of military service in November.

He has served with the armed forces for the last 13 years, being out of service for only a 14-month period during 1946 and 1947 during that time.

A native of Osceola, Ark., he married Kathleen M. Gault October 28, 1944, at Windsor, Ontario, Canada. They have two children, Danna Lynn, aged seven, and Gaylon Wayne, aged three.

He attended Lange grade school at Blytheville, Ark., Central High School at Blytheville, Ark., and Mississippi State University.

No Truant Officer In School Policy

NEW YORK (AP) — What has happened to the Truant Officer? He is rapidly being replaced by professionally trained personnel, according to Dr. Francis J. Daly, Director, Division of Pupil Personnel Services, New York State Education Department.

The old "police-policy" of enforcement is on the way out, he says. The new approach is based on pupil personnel problems of nonattendance and recognizes that there may be contributing causes of absenteeism.

"Health problems, frustration due to continued failure in school, family troubles and lack of understanding between home and school are all significant factors," he added.

Statistics indicate that 64 out of every 100 boy babies born in 1954 in the United States will live to be 65 years old.

Mulled cider is delicious to serve with a snack on a cool night. Heat the cider with brown sugar to taste and a dash of cinnamon, cloves and allspice. If you use a stick of cinnamon and whole cloves and allspice, strain the cider before serving. If you use ground spices, straining is not necessary.

Gettysburg College Has One Of Oldest Alumni Groups In U.S.; Was Organized In 1835

According to Alumni Secretary C. P Cessna, Gettysburg College has one of the oldest alumni associations in the United States. Only a few schools had attempted to organize their alumni when Gettysburg graduates assembled in 1835 to establish an organization which would benefit the college. Not only her graduates, of which approximately 8,000 are living, but also her honorary alumni have brought great credit to this oldest Lutheran College in America.

C. PAUL CESSNA
Alumni Secretary

Among these honorary alumni are two living presidents of the United States, Dr. Herbert C. Hoover and President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Ex-president Hoover received the degree of Doctor of Laws in 1932 and President Eisenhower received the same degree in 1946.

Many Are Honored

Numbered among her honorary alumni are leaders in every field of endeavor. During the past ten years the following have received honorary degrees from Gettysburg College.

In 1944, Colgate W. Darden, then governor of Virginia, and now president of the University of Virginia; Walter Evans Edge, governor of New Jersey; Congressman James W. Fulbright, now Senator Fulbright; Edward Martin, former governor of Pennsylvania, now United States Senator; Ray Alfred Barnard, H. Frank Hare, Clyde B. Stover and the Reverends Howard F. Bink, E. Allan Chamberlin, Ivan H. C. Hagedorn, George D. Laird and Hugh Yost.

On May 28, 1945, those honored by the college include: Lloyd C. Keefauver, superintendent of the public schools of Gettysburg; Franklin Clark Fry, president of the United Lutheran Church in America; William C. Storrick, Stewart W. Herman Jr., Sophia Jepson, Clarence E. Arnold, Wouter Von Garrett, Ralph R. Gresh, Guy E. McCarney and Luther W. Slifer.

Woman Given Degree

On May 7, 1946, in addition to the then Gen. Eisenhower, the list includes Samuel P. Weaver, Spokane, Wash.; D. Using some of those summer fruits you put into your freezer? If they are to go into fruit cups they need be defrosted only a short time before serving so they will still be icy cold. If frozen berries are allowed to stand after they are thawed, they tend to become flabby; other fruits tend to lose their shape and juice.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

College Hymn

Blsesing and honor, and glory and power,
Wisdom and riches, and strength evermore,
Give ye to Him Who our battle hath won,
Whose are the kingdom, the crown and the throne.

Dwelleth the light of the glory with Him,
Light of a glory that cannot grow dim,
Light in its silence and beauty and calm,
Light in its gladness and rightness and balm.

Ever ascendeth the song and the joy,
Ever descendeth the love from on high,
Blessing and honor, and glory and praise,
This is the theme of the hymns that we raise.

Life of all life, and true Light of all light.
Star of the dawning, unchangingly bright,
Sing we the song of the Lamb that was slain,
Dying in weakness, but rising to reign.

CAMPUS GROWS MORE POPULAR AS SITE FOR CONVENTIONS

In recent years, Gettysburg College has become an increasingly popular site for various conventions. Excluding meetings which directly involved college activities, nine groups have met on the campus since the publication of the last Gettysburg Times College edition.

These nine conventions do not include the hundreds of persons that visit the campus during the course of a year. These visitors range from individual prospective students to large groups from churches or schools.

Church Workers Here

One of the big meetings during the last year was the annual national convention of Kappa Delta Rho social fraternity, with the Gettysburg Chapter of the fraternity serving as host. Close to 100 persons, including high Kappa Delta Rho national officers, attended this three-day affair in August.

More than 450 Lutherans from communities in central Pennsylvania were on hand for the third annual Gettysburg Assembly for Church Workers from July 11 to July 17. This program was sponsored by the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America which has its central office in Harrisburg.

Outstanding participants included two delegates to the August meeting of the World Council of Churches in Evanston, Ill., Dr. Heinrich Puffert, secretary-general of the Protestant Inner Mission of Westphalia, Germany, and the Rev. J. P. P. Tiga, pastor of Gossner Lutheran Mission, India. Miss Rosemary Yang, Chinese student attending Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio, was a guest of the assembly. Courses were conducted in Bible study, teaching, mission study, youth work, church history, inner missions and evangelism. In addition, courses were held for members of altar guilds, church office secretaries, leaders of recreation, sextons, ushers, and Christian vocation counsellors.

Regular Sessions

Another church group which met on the campus late in the summer was the Luther League of Maryland, holding its 33rd annual convention. This organization, so fond of Gettysburg that it keeps coming back each summer, divided its work between the campus and the Lutheran Seminary, with eight work sessions held at the college. More than 400 persons attended.

The Pennsylvania State Modern Language Association, a branch of the National Federation of Modern Language Teachers Association, chose April 3 as the date and Gettysburg College as the place for its annual conference in 1954.

More than 100 language teachers from the state of Pennsylvania met here, with Dr. Albert Bachman, head of the Gettysburg Romance language department, serving as conference host.

Main speakers for the group, which has as its aim the formation of good relations among language teachers in all levels of teaching and the instruction of teachers in the latest and best trends in language instruction, were Miss Annette Emgarth, largely responsible for the revised Pennsylvania foreign language curriculum in secondary schools, and Dr. Frederic Ernst, former director of L'Institut D'Education Francaise at Pennsylvania State University and presently associate editor of the Dryden Press, N. Y.

Field Workshop Here

Thirty Columbia University graduate students participated in a summer field workshop on the campus from June 14 until July 3. All participating were secondary and elementary teachers, and the studies, done mostly in the field of natural science, were part of the necessary requirements for Columbia Teachers College advanced degrees.

On the economic side, the York Association of Cost Accountants met on the campus during the 1953-54 school year as did the Pennsylvania group of the National Association of Educational Buyers.

Secondary schoolmen of Adams, York and Franklin Counties, a group which included administrators and faculty personnel, met for three days at Gettysburg, as did Pennsylvania College and University Alumni of Washington, D.C. The latter group, made up of all Pennsylvania college and university graduates presently residing or working in the Washington area, meets each year on a different Pennsylvania college campus.

New Professor In English Department

Dr. Richard B. Geyer, a native of Urbana, Ohio, will join the Gettysburg English Department as associate professor.

A member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, Dr. Geyer served in the Army from 1942 until 1946, with 16 months in the European Theater of Operations. Dr. Geyer received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Miami University (Ohio) in 1941 and following military service the University of Aberdeen in Scotland. In 1947, he received his Master of Arts degree from Miami University and, in 1951, his Ph.D. from Northwesterr University.

Before coming to Gettysburg, he was professor of English and head of that department at the University of Dubuque, Ia.

EASY LOOK IS FASHION RULE FOR STUDENTS

By DOROTHY ROE
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)

The easy look is the required ingredient for this year's campus clothes for both men and women.

This means clothes must be easy to get into, easy in fit and easy to look at. It does not mean that the unmourned sloppy fad of a few years ago is back. This year it's a more studied carelessness. Clothes are made with a casual effect in view. The bloused and middy silhouettes are top favorites with college girls. Such outfits as Bermuda shorts and bulky sweaters are in high demand by college men as well as coeds.

Wool Knits Rate High

Wool knits also rate high, as do rugged tweeds and softly draped wool jerseys. These are clothes that require little pressing, adapt themselves to the specialized problems of college life and are made to take hard wear.

Girls like a wardrobe of skirts, shirts, sweaters and, of course, Bermuda shorts. Dark flannels and tweeds are the choice for skirts and shorts, with charcoal gray again in top position.

The same fabrics are in top demand by college men, with the charcoal grays and charcoal browns most popular, husky tweeds running a close second.

Youthful GHS Team Shows Promise Despite Loss Of Opener; Delone Next Foe

Despite their opening 19-14 setback at the hands of the veteran Westminster outfit last Friday, the comeback performance of the Gettysburg High School gridders in the last period was particularly heartening to the coaching staff and local fans.

Trailing 19-0 going into the final quarter, the Warriors put up their best brand of ball in the last period to score twice and completely outplay their rivals in the closing minutes.

If the Warriors can maintain that kind of scrap and spirit throughout the campaign it is most certain to pay dividends.

This Friday night Delone Catholic High comes here to inaugurate the Warrior home campaign.

Delone bowed to Hanover 27-18 last week but its performance against the Nighthawks opened wide the eyes of many dopesters. The Squires had been figured to be easy pickings for the highly-regarded Ha ks but proved to be anything but that. They are certain to provide Gettysburg the same kind of opposition.

Expect Improvement

Coach Howard Shoemaker's squad is expected to show improvement with the experience gained by each outing. The squad is made up primarily of sophomores and juniors, there being only nine seniors on the entire squad. There are only three senior lettermen — Ted Crouse, Carl Westerdahl and Ronnie Williams.

Three other lettermen are juniors—Bob Bondurant, Fred Furney and Merle Gorman. Joe Dearing, the seventh letterman, is a sophomore.

Many of the sophomores and juniors who broke into the lineup against Westminster need only additional experience to blossom into grade-A performers.

All in all, the Warriors should be able to provide most of their opponents with plenty of opposition.

Wolverine Gridders Face Strong Card

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan has lined up an unusually tough football schedule for its home grounds in an effort to check a steady decline in attendance.

The Wolverines this fall will meet Army, Iowa, Minnesota, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan State, hoping that at least two of these games will fill the vast 97,000-plus Michigan Stadium.

RACE COURSE

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Caretakers of the Hialeah racing strip are nature students as well as experts on racing. For instance, they cover the track in off seasons with a carpet of straw and plant, a cover crop of velvet beans and cow-peas. The latter prevent erosion and put minerals into the soil.

WAS IT TOO SMALL?

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Sid Rotz figures it was just one of those days. A 15-inch rainbow trout hit his spinner just as the spinner hit the water. The trout broke water and threw the hook.

"Why didn't you keep that one?" asked Mrs. Rotz, who was standing nearby.

In 1878-79 John L. Sullivan fought and defeated five opponents and received a total sum of $320 for his efforts.

Coach Howard Shoemaker Begins His Fifth Season As Maroon And White Mentor

Howard G. "Shoey" Shoemaker, boss of Gettysburg High's gridders, began his fifth season as Warrior mentor with a 19-14 loss to Westminster last Friday night. The personable Gettysburg headman has already built up one of the best four-year records in high school history with a slate that shows 23 victories, 11 loses, and 3 ties including an undefeated South Penn championship team in 1951.

"Shoey," a 37-year-old native of Souderton, Pa., was graduated from Gettysburg College with his B.A. in 1946. While at Gettysburg he won letters in football and baseball, and also played basketball with the Bullet athletic squads, playing at fullback, in the outfield, and at guard.

Served In Army

At the end of his junior year his education was interrupted by Uncle Sam. After serving 18 months as an enlisted man in the Asiatic theater, "Shoey" was sent to OCS at Camp Davis, N. C., where he became a lieutenant in anti-aircraft artillery. For a while he was attached to the 547th AAA Bn. as athletic and recreation officer and platoon commander. In 1944 and 1945 he won three battle stars and the Bronze Star medal in the European theater during and after the Battle of the Bulge. He served then with the 95th Infantry both in France and Germany.

Following his discharge from the army in November 1945 after four years of service, "Shoey" returned to complete his studies at Gettysburg College. After graduation in 1946 he was named to the teaching and coaching staff at Gettysburg High, assisting George Forney in football and basketball. He is also a member of the department of social studies.

Receives Master's Degree

He continued his education at Columbia University while serving on the High School staff and received his Master's degree in 1952. In 1948 he married the former Miss June Viall, of Lebanon, and the couple has two children, William Keith, 3, and Kathy Ann, 14 months.

Shoemaker became head mentor of the Warrior football team and baseball teams in 1950. Since that time he has had a champion in both sports winning the South Penn conference football crown in 1951, posting the only undefeated record in Warrior grid history and their first championship in over twenty years. In 1953 the baseball team was named conference co-champions with Hanover.

During his four year stint "Shoey" has proved himself a fine teacher. Over that span nine of his gridmen have been named to the conference all-star team. In 1950, when Gettysburg had a 4-4-1 record, Clyde Cleveland at guard and Gene Davis at end were Warrior all-stars; in '51 with an 8-0-1 record, Gettysburg placed Cleveland, Bill Heyser, end, and James Skinner, tackle, on the all-star team; in '52 Skinner repeated but at end, Bob Miller, half-back, and Marlin Fiscel, quarterback, were also named as the Warriors won 5, dropped 3, and tied 1. Last year Stanton Musser was an all-star end choice, as Shoey's charges wound up with a 6-3 log.

This year's team is young and inexperienced, but Shoey's patience will eventually pay-off. It always has.

Orange And Blue Bullets Will Open 1954 Grid Season In Night Game Against Bisons

Gettysburg College, which last year rolled to eight victories and one defeat for the finest season in the history of the school, opens its 1954 campaign against Bucknell's behemoth Bisons in a night contest slated for October 2 at Lewisburg . . . and from all pre-season indications this battle looms as the take-off point for another exciting, thrill-packed Bullet season.

Head Coach John Yovicsin, with an overall record of 14 wins, four losses, begins his third year at the Bullet helm. The young mentor will be assisted by Jack Shainline (his last time around as a coach), Jim Lentz, who also runs the freshman football show, and Gene Haas, Gettysburg star of the early 1940's.

Twenty-two returning lettermen will lend experience to a squad that consists of 10 seniors, 22 juniors and 20 sophomores, as the Bullets battle their way through an eight-game program. Twelve performers, including All-State and Little All-American halfback Joe Ujobai, and All-State linemen Walt Hemberger and Ron Miller, will be missing from a 1953 team that rewrote practically every record in Gettysburg's football book; a team that lost the season opener by a 19-7 count to the University of Delaware, and then bounced back strong to whip Western Maryland, Albright, Lehigh, Muhlenberg, Lebanon Valley, Dickinson, Bucknell and Franklin and Marshall.

The 12 June graduates included six who started every game last season. Besides Ujobai, Hemberger and Miller, Ron Jacobi, 200-pound end from Haddon Heights, N. J., has departed, as have tackles Jim Rooney and Ken Bowman. First-stringers who remain from the '53 club are guard Carl Beck, center Sheldon Yingst, and backs Frank Gagliardi, Ernie Paliszewski and Bob Eppleman.

Depend On Gagliardi

Observers close to the scene are quick to agree that the fortunes of the 1954 Bullets will, to a great extent, rise and fall on the play of quarterback Frank Gagliardi, who last season, as a sophomore, wrote a new and brilliant chapter in Gettysburg's gridiron history. Though it was sheer teamwork that turned the trick for the Bullets in 1953, Gagliardi, the best small college quarterback in the East—and one of the best anywhere regardless of size of school—supplied most of the spark that kept the teamwork going.

In nine games the 5-10, 175-pounder from Long Branch, N. J., finished the season as runner-up to Columbia's Dick Carr in total offense in the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association with a net gain of 1,134 yards in 184 plays. He was third in the East in passing with 62 completions in 105 attempts for 957 yards; first in the East in completion percentage with a mark of .59; and first in the East in touchdown passes with 18 (a new Gettysburg record, and one short of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association mark).

Rushed 177 Yards

Gagliardi, in addition to his airborne work, rushed for another 177 yards and scored six touchdowns via the ground route. Add to this standout defensive play (he intercepted five passes) and you know why, when it comes to 1954, Bullet fans are saying, "As goes Gagliardi, so goes Gettysburg." For his work last year, Gagliardi was named to the second team All-State squad (he was nosed out by Penn State's Tony Rados), received honorable mention Little All-American and All-East, and, in a post-season poll of Eastern small college coaches, was named, along with Albright's Jack Sudol, as the most valuable small college player in the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Association.

Other returning backfield boys who saw full-scale last season, and accounted for a huge chunk of Gettysburg's success, are halfbacks Ernie Paliszewski and fullback Bob Eppleman. In eight ball games Paliszewski, a junior this year, ripped off 402 yards in 88 tries and scored four touchdowns, while Eppleman, with his final fling coming up, hammered out 320 yards in 79 carries, and scored 24 points.

Two Linemen Return

Only two first-string linemen will return this year, but both are tops at their positions. Carl Beck, rugged 185-pounder from Pittsburgh, started the '53 season as a second-stringer, but it took just one ball game to convince the coaches that he should have been in there all the time. And once he got a shot at the starting assignment he stayed right there all season. The other returning starter is junior Sheldon Yingst, 6-2, 205-pound center from Hummelstown, Pa. Yingst transferred to Gettysburg from Dartmouth, where he was being groomed as a fullback. Yovicsin, however, had fullbacks—stickout performers like Eppleman and sophomore Willie Morro—and Yingst was converted to center, where the Bullets, following the graduation of Phil Dolson, were really hurting. Yingst up and played the position like he was born for the job—and for most of the year he did it with a bum shoulder wrapped in an uncomfortable harness that would have forced guys with less stick-to-itiveness and fortitude to call it a day.

Though there are only five 1953 starters reporting this year, the club that Yovicsin throws on the field against Bucknell will, in nowise, lack experience. The nice part of having a winning team is that, when you build up a sizable lead in a game, you can substitute the boys who probably will play the following season. That's exactly what Yovicsin did last year, and plenty of the performers slated to have a go at it this year, though not bracketed as regulars, gained considerable experience in 1953.

Take the end spot for instance. Though Hemberger and Jacobi carried the biggest load, guys like Norristown's Freddie Alleva, Havertown's Dick Hammett and Pittsburgh's Dick Lewandowski all received more than a baptism of fire, and along with some promising players up from the freshman team—which holds true in every position—are all set to roll this year.

Bowman and Rooney did the lion's share of the tackle duty last season, but were spelled by a couple of capable bruisers the likes of 220-pound Hart Beaver and 195-pound Frank Eckert, Lebanon and Palmyra, Pa., respectively. Service returnee Bob Dickson, 225 pounds, and Bob Finnigan, injured last season, a 210-pounder, brighten the tackle picture considerably.

York's Barry Attig and Harrisburg's Bill Weitzel did a fine job of subbing for regular guards Beck and Miller last year, and they're back again this time. The same goes for Prospect Park's Bobby Hoffman and Norristown's Curt Coull as stand-ins for Yingst at center.

A host of promising backfield candidates, 20 in all and too numerous to mention individually, makes the running department look mighty rosy—in spite of the graduation of Ujobai, one of the best ever.

But as always, this material is needed, because once again, Gettysburg plays a tough schedule that, from here, contains no breathers. When you have three or four weeks in a row crammed full of fellows like Lehigh, Delaware and Lafayette, you've got a job on your hands.

Intercollegiate Program At Gettysburg Highly Regarded

Gettysburg consistently finds itself in a very enviable position with regard to its program of intercollegiate athletics. For years, the College has maintained one of the most highly-developed intercollegiate athletic programs of any small college in the nation and at no sacrifice to her scholastic program.

Most observers like to think of Gettysburg's system as a basically sane and honest method of handling intercollegiate athletics. The College has proved that small schools, highly-rated scholastically, still can turn out winning teams with the attitude toward sports and its proper place in the life of the college.

Wide Variety of Sports

The program of intercollegiate athletics includes football, soccer, wrestling, golf, basketball, baseball, tennis, swimming and track, with freshman schedules in soccer, basketball and football. An interesting schedule of co-ed intercollegiate athletics is carried out with competition in field hockey and basketball.

The Advisory Committee on Athletics includes: President Walter C. Langsam, Dr. Paul R. Selber (Board of Trustees Representative), Dean Wilbur E. Tilberg, Earl E. Ziegler (Faculty Representative), Mrs. C. Q. Smith (Alumni Representative), William H. B. Stevens and Glenn L. Bream (Alumni Representatives), Henry R. Bream, and Miss Janice K. DEAN OF MEN LISTS DUTIES OF HIS OFFICE

The Office of the Dean of Men was instituted as a separate office under the authority of the Office of the Dean in the fall of 1952. The work of the office was outlined today by Dean of Men Robert H. Fryling.

"The office has as its primary responsibility, the social and personal welfare of the male student population on the Gettysburg College campus. This objective is attained through several media, the most fundamental and important being the freshman adviser system. This system is inaugurated by selecting members of the faculty for their capabilities and interests in the student to be advisers to the members of the freshman class. The ratio is approximately fifteen freshmen to one faculty member.

"The students meet with their advisers periodically throughout the year to discuss not only academic problems, but also personal problems. If the problems are of such nature as to merit further consideration than the advisers wish to provide, then the student is referred to the proper administrative office for further guidance.

"Working in close conjunction

with these advisers are the student counselors who live in the freshman dormitories. These upperclassmen give advice, within their capabilities, to their freshmen and refer them to an administrative officer when the problems become acute. Here again, the ratio is about fifteen freshmen to one counselor. The counselors conduct meetings weekly with a faculty committee in order to discuss various phases of counseling in connection with their dormitory experiences.

"In the complete counseling system, the guidance counselor, chaplain, college physician, dean, and the dean of men cooperate effectively in their common responsibilities

Responsible for Fraternities

"Another media for the men is the fraternity and the fraternity system. Responsibility for their welfare is shared with the head of the Department of Education, Dr. Frank Kramer. The advisory capacity is exercised through the Interfraternity Council which is the governing body of the fraternities, and the Gavel Club which is the organization of all the fraternity presidents and vice presidents.

"The Interfraternity Council rules on all fraternity policies and has certain discipline power for fraternities. The Gavel Club is a training school for the fraternity council.

"The Interfraternity Council also sponsors the well known 'Help Week' projects, and the Gavel Club meets periodically to initiate cooperation and desirable relationships with the authorities and citizens of the community.

"The student body government group also comes under the jurisdiction of the Office of the Dean of Men. This body is composed of representatives from both the men's and women's fraternity and non-fraternity groups. It supervises the campus elections and delegates the student representatives to the joint faculty-student committees. It has the power to recommend disciplinary measures to the faculty and controls all the student organizations.

Assigns Dormitory Space

"From the standpoint of physical living conditions, it is the responsibility of this office to assign dormitory rooms to the men and obtain additional rooms in the community in order to house those students which are not in the dormitory quota.

"The responsibilities of campus parking and co-ordination of the ROTC units are also designated to this office. The latter assignment entails being liaison between the Air Force ROTC, the Military ROTC, and the college, as well as being the representative of the college at military functions, both on and off the campus.

"Finally—although not necessarily an assigned obligation, but rather an assumed responsibility—the maintaining of proper liaison between the authorities of the community and those of the college in order to promote better understanding between the citizens of the community and the campus community is an integral and highly important phase of the position of the dean of men."

Photograph Shows Laying Of Cornerstone For Glatfelter Hall At Gettysburg College In 1888

The gentleman in the front row, second from the left, holding an umbrella, is the late Dr. George D. Stahley, class of 1871, who for many years was the beloved head of the biology department.

In the fifth row, second from the left, is the late Dr. John A. Singmaster, class of 1873, who for many years was president of the Lutheran Seminary.

In the center of the photograph, in line with the corner of the cornerstone, is the late Dr. E. S. Breidenbaugh, class of 1868. He became head of the chemistry department in 1874 and continued to serve his alma mater for fifty years. In 1924 he came professor emeritus of chemistry.

Behind the cornerstone stands the late Dr. Milton Valentine, class of 1850, who was president of the college from 1868 until 1884.

Dr. Harvey W. McKnight, who was president from 1884 until 1904, and who was president of the school at the time of the cornerstone laying, cannot be identified in the photograph.

Development Program Approaches $125,000 In Four Months Of Effort

By DR. C. L. S. RABY

The Office for Development has continued its activities throughout the summer months in the hope that the $150,000 designated by the Board of Trustees as the minimum necessary to start the first dormitory would be available in the early fall.

Up to this time, for the most part, the money represents the contributions and pledges of the College Alumni. Although more than 500 alumni have served as visitors to call on fellow alumni only a minor percentage of the total number of former students has been seen.

The associate chairman in charge of general supervision of the alumni phase of the program is John S. Rice, Gettysburg, vice chairman of the College Board of Trustees.

Plan Church Appeal

The Rev. Doctors Chester Simonton of York and L. Ralph Tabor of Baltimore, also members of the Development Programs' general committee, are associate chairmen of the phase which will provide an opportunity to members of the church to support the project.

The recommendation that a Corridor of Classes be established in the dedication of rooms by the several classes has been accepted by the Class of 1894. This group, since its 60th reunion in June, has almost reached the $4,000 mark for the first of the rooms. Assignment of rooms will be made in order as classes complete their $4,000 contributions.

Any program involving a million dollars to be raised through voluntary giving needs time to be accomplished. With this thought in mind, the Board of Trustees of Gettysburg College set its achievement goal over a three-year period to assure success for a project so vital to the continued progress of Alma Mater.

Have Further Plans

With the vacation season over, the several area chairmen are now renewing with vigor their direction of visitors in an effort to have a completed report from all before the fall Homecoming Day.

The schedule of further activity calls for a visitation among the friends of the college especially in the Adams County and adjacent area.

This phase of the program is under the associate chairmanship of Gettysburg National Bank's president, Clarence A. Wills, who besides being a member of the Finance Committee of the Board of Trustees of Gettysburg College is also a member of the General Development Committee of the College.

J. Lewis (Poppa) Hall, AAU indoor high jump champion, is now serving in the Army.

KOREAN VET IS WITH AROTC

A veteran of 100 combat missions in Korea from February, 1951, until the "police action" ended there, Capt. Richard Thomas Andrews, a native of Portland, Ore., has come to Gettysburg College as an assistant professor of air science.

The 30-year-old World War II veteran, who had 50 combat missions as a fighter pilot in Italy as a first lieutenant in World War II, is married and the father of three children, William, aged 6; Kathleen, 3, and Richard, aged 2 years. He and Mrs. Andrews, the former Kathleen Banta, were married in Brush Prairie, Wash., September 6, 1946.

In 1950, Capt. Andrews received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Williamette University.

His World War II service extended from August, 1942, to September, 1945.

College Scholarship Grants Attract 25 Superior Students Annually At Cost Of $4,000

Gettysburg College is offering 25 competitive scholarships, worth $4,000 per year, to attract the best student minds to the school.

The financial grants, ranging from $100 to $475 per year each, are granted, according to Dr. W. C. Waltemyer, chairman of the committee on scholarships, on the results of competitive examinations among high school students. They are designed, "on the one hand to reward ability and achievement and on the other to secure superior students for the college."

The plan has been in operation for only two years, thus "it is too early t measure the results of this plan. It is hoped that it will increase the academic potential of our student body. Meanwhile the records of the holders of the competitive scholarships will be carefully studied" to determine how successfully the scholarship scheme has been in bringing top-notch minds to the school.

General Scholarships

Dr. Waltemyer pointed out that the competitive scholarships are only a part of the scholarship system at the school. There are a number of general scholarships which are based on three absolute conditions, character, need and ability.

Need is one of the basic conditions for those scholarships because they provide many worthy young men with the only opportunity they would have to obtain the education to prepare them for a career in the arts or professions, a career that they would have been unable to secure due to lack of financial opportunity if scholarships had not been available.

The competitive scholarships however are based more on the desire to reward ability and secure superior students through additional inducement.

The competitive scholarships, Dr. Waltemyer said, are open to "high school seniors who stand in the first quarter of their respective classes and who receive an unconditional character recommendation from the principal. These eligible students take an examination given on our campus in the spring of each year and the awards are made on the basis of their standing in the results of that examination."

Two of the awards are of $475 per year each, representing a grant of $1,900 each through four years to help give a complete education to young and brilliant high school students.

Two others offer $300 each per year, or a total of $1,200 each through the four collegiate years.

Two more represent a help of $200 per year, or $800 in four years. Three are of $150 per year each, $600 for the four years, and then there are 16 scholarships which give aid totalling $100 each per year, or $400 for the four years.

All told the scholarships provide $4,000 each year to help finance the way of 25 young collegiates through their college courses.

Buehler Hall Being Used

One of the most recently acquired pieces of real estate now owned by the College is Buehler Hall on Carlisle St. at E. Stevens St., which has been converted into a girls' dormitory. It will house 38 students. Years ago the Buehler home, it has been given that name again since its purchase from the Gettysburg Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars which used it as a post home for a number of years. Address By Dr. W. C. Langsam Highlights 28th Orientation Week Program For Students

A keynote address by Dr. Walter C. Langsam, president of Gettysburg College, has been the highlight of the 28th annual Orientation Week for new students at the college, which began last Sunday evening. A reception at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Langsam followed the address on Monday evening.

The Orientation program, designed to acquaint the freshmen with the campus, the town, and college life in general, opened on Sunday evening with vespers in Christ Chapel, conducted by the Rev. Edwerth E. Korte, chaplain of the college. Following this, individual students met with their advisers in faculty homes.

All day Monday was spent in registration of the new students. Chapel services were again held in the evening, followed by Dr. Langsam's speech.

Undergo Examinations

The newcomers took General Achievement Tests on Tuesday morning, and met during the afternoon in discussion groups to learn "How To Study." They then heard the Rev. Mr. Korte discuss "Religion on the Campus," and attended an outing sponsored by the Student Christian Association.

Dean W. E. Tilberg led off this morning's program with a speech on "Your New College Home." This was followed by study habits and personality tests.

This afternoon Jim Lau, president of the Student Senate, conducted a meeting on class organization, student customs, and extra-curricular activities. This was followed by a visit to the National Museum, to view the Electrical Map of the Battle of Gettysburg.

Hold Sectional Meetings

Tonight there will be section meetings in the dormitory and residence halls, and discussions of fraternities and sororities.

A discussion of the intramural athletic program is scheduled for Thursday morning, followed by a session entitled, "Mind Your Manners, or You and Emily Post," with Dean of Women Martha Storek and Dean of Men Robert H. Fryling.

Opens Thursday

Formal opening of the college will be held Thursday at 11 a.m., in Christ Chapel, with President Langsam presiding. Classes begin Friday morning.

According to college officials Orientation Week attempts to convey to the student "The Spirit of Gettysburg, that makes the institution so loved by her students, alumni, and friends. Every lecture, conference, and test has been planned with this purpose in mind . . .

"The tests administered prior to and during Orientation Week provide information that enables the officials of the college to be of greater service to each student than would otherwise be possible. Because each student is a unique personality, with his own pattern of interests, aptitudes, patterns, and skills, and because Gettysburg College is sincerely interested in the development of each student as an individual, every effort is made to make available to him a personalized education. The information obtained from tests is of utmost importance in this endeavor."

Mother Turns Out Indestructible Gowns

OKMULGEE, Okla. (AP) — When Mrs. Mary Holland made three flannel night gowns for her daughter in 1929, she didn't realize just how much wear they would get.

All told, 11 grandchildren, two daughters, one great-granddaughter and one neighbor's child have worn the nighties. They are being taken out once more for Mrs. Holland's daughter-in-law to use for her child. Says Mrs. Holland:

"They're plenty frayed and are showing some wear but they have become a tradition with us."

Starching a garment makes subsequent washings of the garment easy, since soil tends to lodge on the starch rather than on the fabric. It's a good idea to starch house dresses and aprons.

Adult Division Of Gettysburg College To Increase Variety Of Courses To Meet Interests

The Adult Division of Gettysburg College was organized in the fall of 1953 to offer short non-credit courses for those interested in self-improvement.

In its first year the Division was attended by more than 200 persons living in 20 communities, within a 40-mile radius of Gettysburg. Students came from Harrisburg, Carlisle, Mechanicsburg, Dover, Waynesboro and Frederick, as well as from nearby communities.

William C. Darrah, Gettysburg R. 1, scholar, author and historical researcher, is the director of the Adult Education Division at the college.

Courses are offered in agriculture, business, industry, general education and enjoyment of leisure. Among the subjects to be given in the coming year are accounting, business English, business law, taxes, soil management, insect pests, horticulture of fruit trees, farm accounting, creative writing, public speaking, music appreciation, photography and blueprint reading.

Three Unusual Courses

Three unusual courses will be offered for the first time: preparation for citizenship, for those planning naturalization, the collection and appreciation of antiques and flower arrangement.

There will be three sessions commencing in October, January, and March. Each course runs for six weeks, meeting one evening each week for two hours. A fee of twelve dollars is charged for each course. A certificate is presented upon completion.

About half of the instructors are members of the Gettysburg College faculty. The others are chosen because of their practical experience and recognized success in their fields.

Enrolled Whole Staff

Some measure of success of the first year's program is indicated by the range of interests of those who attended, virtually a cross-section of our people.

The ages spread from a high school student taking public speaking to men and women in their late sixties developing retirement hobbies. By occupation they range from housewives, clerks, farmers and salesmen to ministers, lawyers, engineers, teachers, and proprietors of well-known businesses. Many husbands and wives attend together and one businessman enrolled his entire office staff in the accounting course.

"Gettysburg College considers its Adult Division a community service and believes it meets a real need. It plans to increase the variety of courses to meet the interests of the greater community," Director Darrah said.

BOSTON (AP)—The late Lloyd Lewis' proposed four-volume biography of U.S. Grant will be completed, students of the Civil War era will be glad to learn. Lewis had finished one volume, published in 1950 by Little, Brown. Pulitzer and National Book Award winner Bruce Catton will carry on, says the publisher. Author of a separate study of Grant in the Library of American Biography, Catton will have access to Lewis' notes.

President's Greetings

As the student population of Gettysburg returns for another academic year the seminary extends a warm welcome to the students of both institutions. To the faculties and staffs the best wishes for a fruitful year are offered.

Today the mounting tensions and the clouds of uncertainty that mark our life make the need for Christian higher education more urgent than ever before. The demand for men and women to bring to the posts of leadership spiritual as well as intellectual excellence is acute. The institutions at Gettysburg have through the years made a tremendous contribution to the educational, civic, social, and religious life of the world. It is the prayer and the goal of the seminary that this contribution may continue and be strengthened.

A cordial welcome to all who enroll in the schools of our community is the word of the seminary.

HARRY F. BAUGHMAN,
President of the Gettysburg Theological Seminary

Dr. Harry F. Baughman Warns 135 Theologians Against Pride At 129th Seminary Opening

Speaking to 135 students at the opening of the 129th year of the Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary on Wednesday morning in the Church of the Abiding Presence, Dr. Harry F. Baughman, president of the seminary, warned the assembled students against a spiritual caste system "which breeds intellectual and spiritual pride." Citing the relations of Christ with His apostles, Dr. Baughman noted that "it was necessary for Him at every turn to quench the burning fire of pride saying 'He who would be great among you, let him be the servant of all."

Dr. Baughman's complete address follows.

"Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into His hands, that He came from God and went to God . . . He riseth from supper . . . took a towel and girded himself . . . and began to wash his disciples' feet' John 13:3-5.

"That was a characteristic action with which Jesus met His disciples on the night of the Last Supper. It is, at once, the faithful reflection of the living, essential spirit of Jesus, and a dramatic instruction to His followers in all ages.

Language of Symbolism

"What a sequence this record presents. 'Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into His hands . . . that He had come from God, and went to God' with the awareness of His origin, His divinely given authority, and His destiny full upon Him . . . 'took a towel and a basin,' the tools of a servant. Look at the Master in this solemn and significant moment. The full dignity and authority and power of His mission are perfectly clear to His mind. He has one final opportunity to assert His greatness and to fix in the minds of His followers the spirit of His life. At such a moment what does Jesus do? He does not exhort, or appeal, or dictate or indeed say a single word. He uses the language of symbolism which every age may translate into its own terms. He rises from the table, and as His friends lie in Oriental posture at their meal, He bends over them as the humblest servant would do, and He, their Lord and Master, washes His disciples' feet.

"Let this striking scene with its vivid symbolism, so often for Christians over-shadowed by its more telling sequel, set the mood and spirit for us—not only in this Service but for our whole year. This is not the natural way of men. When Kipling included in his 'Recessional' the line, 'If drunk with sight of power we loose wild tongues that have not Thee in awe,' he was a perfect realist. He testifies to that which history has repeatedly witnessed, the natural human response to the sense of power. When men are aware of superior power and authority, they take a sword, a battleship, a jet propulsion plane, an H bomb. Jesus took a towel. His act of self-abasing service is sharpened by the background of His consciousness of origin and destiny against which it stands. The higher His sense of authority, the more urgent for Him the necessity for emptying Himself and becoming the servant of all.

"He might have built a palace with a word
Who sometimes had not where to lay His head,
Time was, and He who nourished crowds with bread
Would not unto Himself one meal afford.
Twelve legions, girt with angelic sword,
Were at His beck, the scorned and buffeted.
He healed another's scratch, His own side bled.
Side, hands, and feet with cruel piercing gored.
Oh wonderful the wonders left undone,
And scarce less wonderful than those he wrought!
O self restraint passing all human thought
To have all power and be as haning none!
O self denying love, which felt for needs of others
Never for its own."

Temptation Of Mastery

"The peculiar temptation of any mastery is pride. We have no difficulty in recognizing that in the lords of conquest who have flashed across the horizons of history, some of them our own contemporaries. But we do not always perceive the more subtle—but no less real—peril as it threatens our own lives. Possibly at no place is the peril more real and insistent than in a fellowship like ours.

"Much of our attention here is directed toward achieving a mastery. The every nature of our preparation and calling demands that we master subjects, techniques, skills, and that we acquire a certain intellectual and spiritual power. Mastery is one of our key words here. The professor is effective only as he masters his subject. The student is constantly being called to master a language, a book, a system of theology, a means of communication. And it is extremely easy to develop a spiritual caste system, as we focus on these vital and necessary goals. The very excellence to which we are invited often breeds an intellectual and spiritual snobbery.

"Like the two disciples who came to Jesus with their request for the chief portfolios in the government they expected Him to establish, 'do for us . . . grant unto us to sit' etc. . . . we fancy that our special nearness to Christ, our superior mastery of some area, our deeper insight, should be accounted to our greater credit. And often we lose the essential spirit that ought to characterize all Christians and especially those called to be the ambassadors and spokesmen of Him Who is exalted only because He emptied Himself. We lose sight of the clearly expressed goal of our ministry—'we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus, and ourselves as your servants for His sake.'

Most Difficult To Overcome

"Apparently Jesus in His work of preparing men to be His ambassadors found this the most difficult spirit to overcome, and the lesson of the upper room the most urgent to inculcate. At every turn it was necessary for Him to quench the burning fire of pride. 'He who would be great among you let him be the servant of all.' When the two disciples displayed their ambitious spirit and sought His favor for their own ends He swiftly set forth the rule of advancement in His kingdom—'Can you drink the cup . . . are you able to be baptized with my baptism?' When His commissioned messengers returned from a preaching mission glowing with the joy of accomplishment, rejoicing in their power—boasting 'The evil spirits were subject unto us'—He sharply quelled the rising pride with His perspective restoring word 'Nevertheless, in this rejoice not, that the evil spirits are subject unto you, rejoice rather that your names are written in the Lamb's book of life.'

"As we come to this Hill of preparation, some of us returning with the glow of accomplishment, some of us embarking with eager spirit upon the fresh adventure, let us all—professors and students, strong and weak, skilled and undeveloped, pause in reverence before the amazing spectacle of the Upper Room. He who is aware of a Divine and unique power, who is the Head of the body, the Church, and about to accomplish the supreme act of redemption for His Church, sees with burning vision the ever recurring need of those who shall be His representatives. 'Knowing that His Father had delivered all power into His hands . . . took a towel . . . ! And as we go about this serious business of equipping ourselves . . . 'That the man of God may be adequate,' let us enter into the experience of His first ambassadors with utter reality and actually feel the touch of our Master's hand upon us—performing for us the act of a servant, rebuking our pride and self will, and calling us to that true humility of spirit by which alone we may be made effective representatives of Him Whose we are and Whom we serve 'Have this mind in you which was also in Christ Jesus.'"

When you find the word "simmer" in a recipe, remember that it means to cook in liquid just below the boiling point. If you watch the food that is simmering, you'll see that bubbles form slowly and break below the surface of the liquid. Always use low heat when simmering food.

Pre-Professional Training In Engineering And Forestry Are Offered Here Under Special Plan

Gettysburg College is offering, for the second year, pre-professional training in engineering and forestry.

Engineering students will receive three years of general education at Gettysburg, and then transfer to Pennsylvania State University for two years of professional training, to receive their bachelor's degree.

Forestry students, after three years at Gettysburg, will receive their specialized training in two years at Duke University, in Durham, N. C.

Transfers Are Automatic

About 25 students have enrolled in the pre-engineering course this year, and about a dozen in the pre-forestry. The transfers are automatic at the end of the third year, with no new application necessary, but the pre-engineer must have at least a "C" average in his grades to be transferred. The college catalog states that the college will recommend "qualified students" in pre-forestry, without any specific limitation.

The recommended curriculum for the three-year pre-engineering student includes twenty semester-hours of mathematics, seventeen of physics, and two each of descriptive geometry and engineering drawing, in addition to the usual liberal arts courses in English, general education, Bible, foreign language, literature, psychology, history, economics, chemistry, and ROTC.

The three-year pre-forestry curriculum offers only six semester-hours of mathematics and eight of physics but substitutes instead fourteen hours of biology and eighteen of electives.

Cite Reasons for Program

College authorities list four reasons for offering the pre-engineering program:

1. To provide a student with the advantages of a general education in a liberal arts institution as well as a technological education in a school of engineering, instead of the six or more years that might otherwise be necessary.

2. To permit a student whose aptitude for engineering may be uncertain, or whose choice between engineering and other studies may not yet be made, to study a variety of arts and sciences in his first three years, during which he can better determine where his major interests and abilities lie.

3. To provide a student with a series of liberal arts courses which, if completed successfully, will guarantee him acceptance at an engineering school at times when such entrance applications might exceed the school's capacity.

4. To permit qualified students to receive both a liberal and a technical education at a relatively low cost, and thus provide the Commonwealth and the nation with more critically-needed engineers.

More Than Vocational

Of the pre-forestry program, the college catalogue says: "Here he obtains a sound education in the humanities and other liberal arts, in addition to the sciences basic to forestry. Such an education does more than prepare a student for his later professional training; it offers him an opportunity to develop friendships with students in many fields, expand his interests, broaden his prospective and fully develop his potentialities.

". . . Since Duke University offers forestry courses only to Seniors and graduate students, the student from Gettysburg College will find himself associating with a mature student body. He will be well-prepared for further personal and professional development."

Students interested in either of these programs should inform the Dean and the chairman of their department as soon as possible.

CAPT. J. P. LUTZ NEW ON ROTC STAFF; EX-POW

Capt. James Phalor Lutz, 703 Highland Ave., assistant professor of Air Science at Gettysburg College, is a World War II pilot who was a prisoner of the Germans during the war.

A native of Albuquerque, N. M., he graduated from schools in Canton, Ohio, and then joined Ohio's 37th Division as an infantryman in January, 1941. He transferred to the Air Corps in 1942 and received his second lieutenant's commission and pilot's wings in May, 1943.

A B-17 commander in World War II, he was shot down over Germany in February, 1944, and remained a prisoner of the Germans until May, 1945.

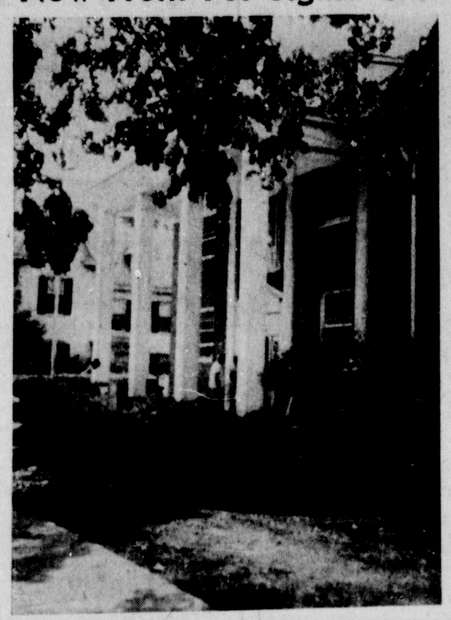

Was At Queens College

Separated from military service in 1947, he completed his studies at Kent State University, Kent, Ohio, receiving his Bachelor of Science degrbee in 1949.

Recalled to active duty in 1950 he served 2½ years as assistant professor of air science at Queens College, Flushing, New York, prior to being transferred to Gettysburg College's Air ROTC staff.

He and his wife, the former Elizabeth Cash, were married August 9, 1945, at Canton, Ohio. They have one daughter, Elizabeth C., aged three.

New Front For Sigma Chi

The Sigma Chi fraternity house on Carlisle St. has gained a new front along with the $50,000 addition being constructed to the rear of the former John B. McPherson property. Ground was broken for the addition on February 3 of this year by Philip R. Bikle, son of one of the founders of the local chapter. The late Dean Philip M. Bikle was dean of the college for many years. (Gettysburg Times Photo)

Microfilm And Microcard Readers Are Donated To Seminary Library

The Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary Library has received and installed two new reading machines, one for microfilms and one for microcards.

They are a gift of the Zion Lutheran Church of Sunbury and were installed in July.

The Recordak Microfilm Reader magnifies filmed newspapers, manuscripts, and out-of-print materials sixteen or twenty times. A valuable aid in study and research, it is located at desk level for convenience in reading and taking notes.

Few Libraries Have Them

The other machine, a Model 5B Microcard Reader, is a newer development. It takes a card containing almost micriscopic-size material, magnifies it 24 times, and throws it on a movie-type screen. The advantage of the micro-cards is that they cost less, are easier to ship, and easier to store than the film.

The Rev. Herbert H. Schmidt, Seminary librarian, said the advantage of these machines is mainly that it makes works of which only one copy exist available to research scholars everywhere. "Now photographs can be taken of the work, and simply shipped through the mail," he said. "For instance, the entire Vatican Library will soon be transcribed on microcard."

According to the Rev. Mr. Schmidt, only two other Lutheran Seminary libraries have microfilm readers, and only one other has a microcard machine.

Gather Classic Works

A beginning has been made in building up a microfilm and microcard collection, and already the library can boast of having some of the classic works of Lutheran theology available in this form.

Among the works available on microfilm are the first unit of "The Corpus of American Lutheranism," containing books, pamphlets, and manuscripts dated 1704 to 1801, "The Origin and Early History of the Presbyterian Church in Virginia," C. C. Gambell's "Literature of Biblical Theology, 1935-1950," Passavant's "The Missionary" magazine, 1848-1860, and "Theologische Literaturzeitung, 1876-1950."

The microcard collection is smaller, but among the works available are "A Critical Examination and Appraisal of the Adalphoristic Controversy in the Life of Phillip Melancthon," and the minutes of the American Theological Library Association proceedings and conferences, 1947.

CAPT. GLADYS, FORMER POW, ON STAFF HERE

Captain John A. Gladys, U.S. Army, who spent nine months as a prisoner of war during World War II, has joined the faculty of Gettysburg College as assistant professor of military science and tactics.

Capt. Gladys was born in Stanhope, N.J., in 1918, and received his early schooling in Mahanoy City, Pa. He enlisted in the infantry in 1939, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in August, 1942. He was sent overseas with the 4th Armored Division and took part in the Normandy invasion.

Captured in France by the Germans shortly after, he was sent to a PW camp in Posen, Poland. Then he was shipped around to five other camps, until he was liberated in March, 1945, at Hammelberg, Germany, by his own own unit of the 4th Division.

Worked With VA

Capt. Gladys was discharged in November, 1945, and served as training officer for the Veterans' Administration in Pottstown, Pa., from 1946 to 1950. His job was to supervise veterans' on-the-job training and business schools in Schuylkill County. He was recalled to active duty in August, 1950, and has spent the last three years with the 213th AAA Gun Battalion, near Heidelberg, Germany.

He married the former Miss Rose E. Branz, in 1942. They have three children, Patricia, age 11 Janet, age 8, and Lawrence, age 15 months, and the family lives at 235 W. Lincoln Ave. Capt. Gladys is a member of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, and the Gettysburg Post of the American Legion.

He said: "My son, Lawrence was born in Germany, and my daughters both went to the American school there. The family was able to visit various countries. The most interesting trip was to Italy last May, where we were able to visit the Pope."

FEMALE OASIS IN MALE DESERT

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Prof. Marian Mount is one in a thousand at Oklahoma City University Technical School.

She's the only woman instructor in a school of a 1,000 male students into which coeds seldom venture.

A female oasis in a desert of men, is the way the collegians regard Marian, who is 28 and often mistaken for a coed herself. That fact, she says, can seriously complicate the job of teaching drafting in the industrial arts school.

Expert Drafter

She must not only be an expert at drafting, she must also be adept at parrying advances from college Romeos.

To accomplish this, Marian is cool, efficient and businesslike.

"I have to be that way," she explains, "because when the fellows first come into the class, they're prone to flirt.

Is Businesslike

"By being businesslike, they sort of forget I'm a woman—particularly when they find out I know what I'm talking about."

Having a 1,000 men all to herself has another complication when the news gets around to wives of married students.

"Lots of women have called me on the telephone and bluntly asked me what I look like," she laughs.

"They usually say they are coming out to visit the class. That's when I tell them that I am short, fat and sloppy—and they don't bother anymore."

When all else fails and they barge in anyway, she has a surefire remedy. Mrs. Mount shows them a picture of her husband and small son.

GROUND KEEPER AT WAR COLLEGE HAS BIG HOPES

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) — Joseph Sylvia, ground keeper at the U.S. Naval War College at nearby Newport, R. I., picked up a dirty penny. He offered it to a fellow worker who refused it.

Sylvia figures that was a break because cleaning revealed the date 1652. It is one of the earliest coins in this country.

It apparently came from a mint established in Boston in 1651 or 1652 under authority of the Great and General Court of Massachusetts. (That still is the official name of the Massachusetts legislature.)

John Hull was in charge of the mint and is said to have become wealthy turning out three and six pence pieces and silver shillings like this one—receiving as pay one shilling for each 20 minted.

Sylvia, a World War II veteran, has been offered $100 for the coin and turned it down, hoping for better offers—enough to put with his present modest nest egg to make a down payment on a home under the GI bill.

One numismatist, Oscar Schlike of Beacon Falls, Conn., recommended Sylvia accept the $100.

The coin bears on its face the uneven lettering "Ano New England" around the rim. In the center is the Roman numeral "VI." and the date "1652." The reverse bears a pine tree, one of three designs common to early Massachusetts coins, and around its edge some of the letters of the words "In Massachusetts."

Either the stamp was off center or someone shaved off some of the silver, a custom that was not too unusual in those days.

Donald Gibbs of the Redwood Library says the date "1652" does not necessarily mean the coni was minted then, since dies of that time were unchanged for about 30 years.

Says Gibbs: "30 years does not mean much when you go back 300."

Ambitious Program Ahead For 3 College Musical Organizations; Choir, "G-Men," Band Begin

There'll be song in the air again at Gettysburg College this year as the college's three musical aggregations have lined up an extensive and ambitious program.

Under the direction of Parker B. Wagnild, head of the Music Department and professor of theory, auditions for the College Choir will begin on Thursday following formal opening exercises.

At the auditions students will be selected to fill the more than 20 positions vacated by last year's graduates. Total membership in the choir will run to 55 voices.

Plan 25 Concerts

Dr. Harold Dunkelberger, associate professor of Bible and faculty choir manager, has been arranging a choir tour that will take the singers through Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

Approximately 25 concerts will be given with the first appearances scheduled at Christmas, when two programs will be presented on the evenings of Saturday, December 11, and Sunday December 12.

"G-Men" To Sing

Gettysburg's male chorus, the "G-Men," will also hold auditions following the opening of school. They will sing concerts in the nearby communities during the school year and in the spring will present a joint concert with Hood College, Frederick, Md. R. Henry Ackley, assistant professor of music and instructor in voice, will again direct the "G-Men." He is also the teacher of musical literature.

The Bullet band will once more entertain during the football games at Memorial Stadium. In addition the band is slated to follow Coach Johnny Yovicsin's gridmen (to an undefeated season, they hope) on three roadtrips.

The bandsmen will be heard at Bucknell on October 2, Lehigh on October 16, and Franklin and Marshall on November 20.

They will also play at least two local concerts in the Eddie Plank Memorial gymnasium during March and May.

Bonnie Is Head Majorette

Miss Bonnie MacGibeny, former champion high school baton twirler and now a Junior at Gettysburg, will again act as head majorette for band performances. Last year Miss MacGibeny drew almost as much applause for her sparkling —literally—performances during the halves of the football games as the gridmen did.

The band will again be directed by Paul A. Harner, lecturer in music, who handles the chores of both the concert and marching bands.

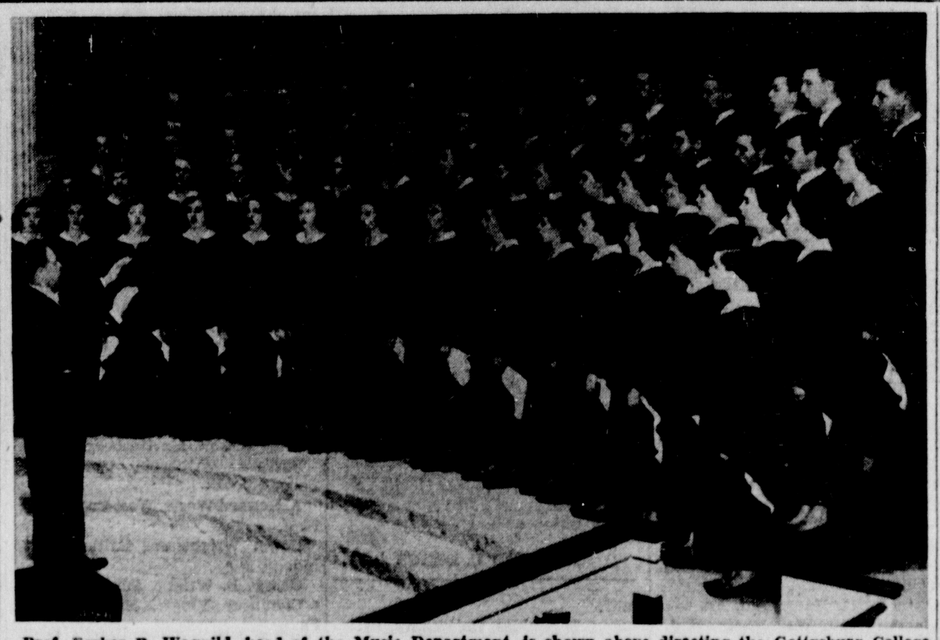

Other members of the music department at the college are J. Herbert Springer, instructor in organ and piano; Marie Budde, instructor in voice; Miss Lois Kadel, chapel organist and director of the chapel choir, who is newly appointed to the position formerly held by Miss Eleanore Bidka; and Virginia Barriga, instructor in violin.

If past experience holds up, about 175 Gettysburg undergraduates will be attracted to one or another of the music courses. About 16 students will take a music major.

Photog Earns Prize On Company Time

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—When Jay Brashear, reporter-photographer for The Phoenix Bazette, was sent on an assignment he came back with more than a story and picture.

As he was taking a picture at the opening of a savings and loan company office, it was announced he had won the door prize — a $1,000 savings account.

Prof. Parker B. Wagnild, head of the Music Department, is shown above directing the Gettysburg College Choir of 1954 that appeared in local concerts before Christmas and in the spring made an extensive concert tour through Pennsylvania and nearby states. Tryouts for vacancies on the choir begin tomorrow.

Alma Mater

As softly the evening shadows
Are veiling the campus towers,
We come, a band of good fellows,
To sing in the twilight hours.
The silvery moonlight mantles
The worn walls of chapel anew,
The wind in the trees sweetly echoes
Our praises of Orange and Blue.

Whenever thy loyal sons gather,
To waken fond memory,
Our thoughts shall be turned Alma Mater,
Old Gettysburg back to thee;
Forever am I thy debtor
And whatever else I may do,
I'll Love, I'll Defend, and I'll Honor
The glorious Orange and Blue.

New College Organist

Miss Lois Kadel, a native of Gettysburg, has been appointed as organist and Chapel choir director. Miss Kadel, who recently resigned as organist and choir director of Emmanuel Reformed Church in Hanover, Pa., was graduated from West Chester State Teachers College with a Bachelor of Science degree, and later received a Master of Sacred Music degree from Union Theological Seminary, New York. She has taught in the Everett, Pa., public schools, and at one time, served as organist and choir director of St. Mark's Methodist Church, Rockville Centre, Long Island. Miss Kadel, presently a resident of Hanover, will succeed Miss Eleanore Bidka at the college.

D. W. ROBINSON JOINS STAFF OF FINE ARTS DEPT.

Donald W. Robinson, son of the late Warren F. Robinson, who was head of the Gettysburg Department of Fine Arts, will serve as an instructor in fine arts.

A native of New Bedford, Mass., Robinson received his first college training from the Art Students League of New York. From 1949 until 1951 he attended Wagner College, Staten Island, N. Y., and from 1951 until 1953, the University of Georgia, receiving a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from there in 1953. He has since received a Master of Fine Arts degree from Columbia University.

Robinson was the recipient of three scholarship awards during his collegiate career, receiving the Art Students League scholarship, the Mary Rosenblatt Scholarship and the Edward Shorter Award for Painting.

He has paintings in the collection of Columbia University, and in private collections in Atlanta, Ga., Athens, Ga., New York City and Long Island, while his exhibitions include the following: Father and Son Exhibition, Judson College, Marion, Ala.; Virginia Intermont, Bristol, Va.; Concours, Art Students League; Christmas, Contemporary Arts Gallery, New York City; University of Georgia Annual Student Show; Wagner College One-Man Show; Columbia University Student Show, Gettysburg College Department of Fine Arts One-Man Show; and Comprehensive Exhibition of Paintings, Columbia University.

Use soap or a mild detergent on your kitchen range when you are cleaning it. They're easier on the range's finish than is an abrasive-type cleaning powder.

College Dining Hall On Full Schedule Now

Supper last Sunday was the first meal that the Freshmen and other new students at Gettysburg College received at the college dining hall.

For regular upper class boarders, luncheon today was the first meal that the school served. Until meal tickets are issued, all upper classmen are paying cash for meals taken at the College Dining Room in Huber Hall.

All students except commuters, married couples, and those living in fraternity houses are expected to take their meals at the dining hall.

J. B. PICKERING NEW ON ENGLISH DEPT.'S STAFF

James Dunbar Pickering has been appointed an instructor in English for the coming year at Gettysburg College. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., in 1947 and 1949, respectively, and is currently a candidate for a Ph.D. at Columbia University.

Mr. Pickering was born in New York City in 1923, and received his elementary and high school education in New Jersey, graduating from Millburn High School in 1941.

He served in the armed forces, and is currently an ensign in the Submarine Service, U. S. Naval Reserve. In addition to his academic and military careers, he worked in advertising for a year and a half with McMahon and Morse, Madison Ave., New York City.

To Live On W. Lincoln

He married the former Anne Stidger in 1946, and they have two sons, James, age 6, and David, age 3. The Pickerings' local residence is 237 Lincoln Ave.

Mr. Pickering is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity, and he held the offices of fraternity senator, corresponding secretary and scholarship chairman.

One of his principal interests is sports, especially football, basketball, baseball, and tennis. He played football for one year at Wesleyan, but says that he was "no great shakes."
